OPPOSITION TO BLACK IS BASED ON KLAN ISSUE

Declare Him Unfit for High Court.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Senators opposing the confirmation of Senator Hugo L. Black [D., Ala.], President Roosevelt's nominee to succeed Justice Willis Van De Vanter, retired, in the Supreme court, today made plans to raise the Ku Klux Klan issue when the fight reaches the senate floor next week.

The hand picked subcommittee appointed to consider the nomination of the zealous supporter and inquisitor general of the Roosevelt administration quickly recommended at a meeting this morning that it be reported favorably to the full committee on the judiciary.

Senators William E. Borah [R., Idaho] and Warren R. Austin [R., Vt.] raised constitutional objections as to Black's eligibility, and some of their Democratic colleagues on the full committee will take the same position Monday.

Dig Into Black's Record.

There were indications, however, that a far more determined fight would be based on the klan issue. Democratic senators opposed to Black, the same senators for the most part who fought President Roosevelt's proposal to pack the Supreme court, put a corps of investigators to work and said they already had sufficient evidence to prove that the Alabama radical formerly was a member of the hooded order.

Opposition leaders, while refraining from discussing openly the klan issue at this stage of the controversy, expressed the opinion that a deluge of protests from prominent liberals and leaders of the Catholic and Jewish faiths would be received over the week-end and that this would "blow the whole thing open."

Have 30 Votes to Start.

The opponents say that at present they cannot count upon more than 30 votes at the outside against Black's confirmation, but they believe there is a much larger potential opposition which will be aroused by the klan issue.

If it becomes established that Black was a klansman few northern Democrats with large Catholic, Jewish and colored constituencies will vote for him, leaders of the opposition believe.

It will be their argument that a man who has been affiliated with a bigoted organization such as the Ku Klux Klan cannot have the qualities of tolerance, impartiality and fair-mindedness essential for a justice of the highest court in the land.

The philosophy of the klan, they say, is repugnant to the spirit of the constitution and specifically to the first amendment, which says that "congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion."

Barred by Law.

Senator Austin said the passage of the Sumners-McCarran act of March, 1937, permitting justices of the Supreme court to retire on full pay [$20,000 a year for life], created a dilemma, either side of which would make a senator ineligible for the nomination.

The act either created a new office, a tenth Supreme court judgeship, or it increased the emolument of the existing office, Senator Austin argued, and the constitution makes any member of congress ineligible for an office created, or the emolument of which is increased, during his term.

With regard to the first alternative, Senator Austin said the Sumner-McCarran act permitted a justice of the Supreme court to retire while retaining the status and the salary of a judge, but permitted the President to name a successor.

Salary for Life.

On the second alternative, Senator Austin said the act increased the emolument of the office by permitting a justice to retire and receive full pay while giving no service.

Senator Borah repeated the argument he first made in the senate that no appointment can be made because no vacancy exists. Under the constitution, he maintained, judges of the Supreme court serve during good behavior, and can be removed only by death, resignation, or impeachment. A justice who retires remains a justice, and there is no vacancy to fill unless the act of 1869 is changed and the size of the court increased, he said.

British Radio Plane, 4,500 Feet Up, Hit by Battery

[Copyright: 1937: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The crew of a sixteen-pounder battery in training at Watchet, Somerset, with their second shot today brought down from a height of 4,500 feet one of the "Queen Bee" radio controled airplanes now used in coastal anti-aircraft practice. The engine of the zig-zagging plane dropped out as the wreckage plunged into the sea. This is the first time since the anti-aircraft units have been reconstituted and equipped with new range finding devices that results of gunnery tests have been disclosed.

FLYING BULLETS IMPERIL CROWD IN LOOP STREET

Woman Is Shot and Windows Smashed.

In a thrilling rifle and revolver duel in crowded State street, just south of Van Buren at the rush hour last evening, a shooting gallery employé killed a one time boy prodigy who an instant before had turned bandit.

The victim was William Lanier Fletcher, 31 years old, clerk, piano player, and patron of the South State street honky tonk row, and a son of Ridgley Fletcher, 6462 Minerva avenue, a former radio actor. Young Fletcher died for a petty theft. He stole a loaded revolver from the shooting gallery at 434 South State street, and was slain in an exchange of shots with the gallery attendant. A woman bystander was hit by one of the shots.

Loses Second Son.

Last night the elder Fletcher identified his son's body. Just six years ago this month Fletcher lost another son, Robert, 26, in a drowning accident at Green Bay, Wis. This second tragedy left the elderly man faltering but dry eyed.

"Liquor did it," he muttered. "My son was no bandit."

Young Fletcher, who was employed in the income tax division of a large mail order house, had been on a drinking spree, during which he earned his drinks as a guest pianist in the saloons in South State street. He was an accomplished player. At the age of 3 he showed unmistakable talent on the piano. At 8 he was one of the most promising pupils at the American Conservatory of Music. Drink, however, is blamed by his father for ruining his chances for a musical career.

Rides Up in Cab.

He had been drinking last evening when he rode up to the shooting gallery at 434 State street in a cab hired a block away. "Just wait a minute," he ordered the driver, Irving Kerskey, 3530 12th place. He dashed inside, threw 15 cents, his last money, on the counter, and asked Thomas Avgerinos, 46, of 4220 Kenmore avenue, the gallery employé, to load up a .22 caliber pistol. Avgerinos did this. "I hope I have good luck with the targets," said Fletcher.

Then he grabbed the loaded revolver and commanded Avgerinos not to move. "This is a stickup!" he shouted. He made no effort, however, to get money, but ran out to the cab. Avgerinos followed him with a loaded .22 caliber rifle.

Seeing he was trapped, Fletcher turned his revolver on Avgerinos and fired two wild shots. One struck Mrs. Sadie Willis, 28, 4316 Michigan avenue, colored, in the hip. She was standing inside the shooting gallery at the time. Kerskey, the taxi driver, dodged behind his cab at the first sound of fire.

Fires Three Shots.

Avgerinos leveled his rifle and pumped out three shots. Two struck the bandit in the head. The third shot went wild, crashed through the windows of a street car, and clinked up against a store window across t street.

State street was packed at the time and the State-Van Buren street station of the "L" lines was also filled. Scores of men and women saw the shooting. Great crowds blocked trafic on the street a moment later.

Police at first presumed that Fletcher stole the revolver to use it in other stickups, but after listening to the tragic story of the elder Fletcher charged the theft to a drink crazed impulse.

Back To Nothing Again.

"Liquor is the cause of this," insisted Mr. Fletcher. "My son couldn't pass a saloon. I tried to get him to try softer drinks. Only last week I talked to him on the evils of drink. My boy had real ability in almost everything he tried. He was a marvelous pianist. He was a good football player in high school. He was good as an income tax clerk. But for booze, he'd have made good in a big way."

Mr. Fletcher, gray haired, slightly bald and bespectacled, spread his hands in despair.

"My wife, Rose, and I started out with nothing," he said. "Then we had something—two fine boys. Now we're back to nothing again."

SOVIET POLAR PLANE OVERDUE IN ALASKA; ANXIETY EXPRESSED

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 13.—(AP)—United States officials privately expressed anxiety tonight over the silence surrounding six Russian transpolar flyers, overdue here on their flight from Moscow along the course of a possible north pole commercial air line to America. Veteran pilots here planned to begin a search tomorrow if the plane had not reported its position.

At 10 a. m. [Chicago daylight time] the huge four motored plane was heard radioing its call letters to the wireless station at Point Schmidt, northern Siberia, but radio stations in Alaska and Canada listened in vain for word from the plane, piloted by Sigismund Levanevsky.

The plane passed over the north pole at 4:40 a. m. [Chicago time] in a gale and snowstorm. At that time the flyers were 18½ hours out of Moscow.

Quiz Seven in Wisconsin Dual Death Mystery

BY EDWIN KENNEDY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on back page.)

Richland Center, Wis., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—District Attorney Sidney J. Hanson of Richland county today requestioned seven witnesses in the mysterious poison death of Orla Shaw, farmer near Soldiers Grove, who died in a hospital here June 21, in an effort to solve that case and also the slaying of Shaw's niece, Mildred Best, 11 years old, on June 4.

The farmer's niece was shot through the temple with a .22 caliber rifle while she lay in bed in the Shaw farmhouse. She was found dead by Shaw and his wife when they returned after a shopping trip to Soldiers Grove.

Harold Best, 15 years old, the girl's brother, is held in the Crawford county jail at Prairie du Chien, charged with her murder. He has repudiated two confessions which he said he made at the suggestions of the investigators.

Arsenic Found in Viscera.

Shaw became ill following the first hearing of the inquest into the girl's slaying. His death was attributed to natural causes by the attending physician. Later his body was exhumed and arsenic was found in the vital organs.

Ernest Shaw, a farmer near Steuben, and father of Orla, one of the witnesses questioned during the day, told the district attorney that he believed his son had been administered the poison with murderous intent. He was unable, however, to supply a clew.

Mrs. Lillian Shaw, the victim's widow, and Leon Shaw, a brother, who were among those questioned, were unable to add to the information they had previously given investigators. Mrs. Shaw asserted she did not know how her husband had been poisoned. She said she was positive he did not commit suicide.

Support Widow's Belief.

Other witnesses who talked to Shaw while he was ill also expressed the belief he did not take the poison deliberately.

The others questioned were Melvin Turk and his wife, owners of a farm adjoining the Shaw farm and at whose home Shaw stayed for several days while he was ill; Dr. W. A. Sannes, the attending physician, and Al Myra, a druggist at Soldiers Grove.

Sherif Ben McClaren of Richland county searched the Shaw home today and found nearly 150 bottles partly filled with patent medicine. Seven kinds of poison were listed as contents. A jar containing more than a pound of Paris green, which contains 50 per cent arsenic, also was found. Relatives said Shaw suffered with a stomach ailment and had tried various remedies.

Psychiatrists and criminologists who have examined Shaw's nephew, Harold Best, have expressed their belief he is telling the truth when he says he did not shoot his sister.

The boy asserted he was giving a motive suggested by the investigators when he said in his confession he was afraid his sister would tell his aunt he had been intimate with her.

RUNAWAY TORPEDO FROM SUB SPEEDS THROUGH SHIPPING

Newport, R. I., Aug. 13.—(AP)—An unloaded torpedo, fired from the submarine Cacholot, plowed through Newport's inner harbor today at 20 knots, narrowly missing Vincent Astor's Nourmahal, many times the floating White House, and Frederick H. Prince's luxurious yacht Lone Star.

The torpedo mechanism, Capt. Irving C. Johnson of the torpedo station said, had gone awry. It sped through the harbor until it hit a submerged ledge.

Smashing against the rock with terrific force, the torpedo was tossed high in the air and shoreward, striking an iron fence on the harbor front estate of Hamilton Fish Webster, and then fell back in the water. The fence and missil were wrecked.

GRANDMOTHER, 28, WAS A MOTHER WHEN ONLY 13

Savannah, Ga., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Much flattered and flustered is Mrs. Georgia Watson of Savannah by the wide attention and publicity she has received since she became one of the youngest grandmothers on record. She is 28 years old.

Mrs. Watson achieved her present status Aug. 5 when her daughter, 15, gave birth to a son. The daughter is Mrs. Lewis Klander, wife of a house painter, 18. They were married on July 18, 1936. The bride was 14, her husband 17.

Grandmother Watson, red-haired and lively and looking younger than 28, was married when she was 12. The first-born child was the present Mrs. Klander, who arrived when her mother had passed her thirteenth birthday. Mrs. Watson has two more children.

Link 3 Broken Marriages to Indiana Justice

A survey of Crown Point marriage records disclosed last night that Justice of the Peace Harvey Minas tied the knot in three of the four Crown Point elopements which reached Cook county divorce courts in the last two days.

Harvey Minas.

In one case, according to the bill for annulment, a young woman was married by Minas although her escort had plied her with liquor for several hours before the wedding. Another young woman asked that her marriage, performed by Minas, be annulled because her husband forced her into the ceremony by threatening her life.

Most Sensational Case.

The third, and most sensational case, in which the marriage fee went to Minas, was revealed in a suit for divorce filed yesterday in Superior court. A middle aged foundry worker charges that the girl he married kept him drunk for two days shortly after the death of his first wife, drove him to the Indiana Gretna Green, and there arranged a marriage before Minas, after three other justices of the peace refused because the prospective bridegroom was too intoxicated to stand up.

The husband is Anton Mankuski, 51 years old, 2907 Lowe avenue. He and Lena Sotekes, 26, of 2901 Emerald avenue, a divorcee, were married at 6 a. m. on June 19, 1936, according to the bill filed by Attorney Dan A. Covelli.

Drinks Self Into Stupor.

On June 18, 1936, five days after the death of his first wife, Mankuski's bill alleges he drank himself into a stupor at the Sotekes home. Then his bride-to-be took him for a taxi ride, according to the bill, during which they made numerous tavern stops.

Reaching Crown Point, they awakened the county clerk and obtained a license. Although Mankuski contends he was too drunk to know what happened, the records show his name was signed in three places on the license application.

Turned down by three justices, the bill states, the couple was married by a fourth, shown by the records to be Minas. Mankuski alleges his bride had to help hold him up and that he was able only to sign his mark, an "X," to the marriage certificate after the justice tried to guide his hands in a signature.

Claims He Tried to Leave.

Mankuski, according to the bill, tried to repudiate his wife, but she refused to leave the next morning unless he paid her $1,500. In later attempts to get him to sign over his property, Mankuski alleges she and her mother and brother beat him

CHINESE FLYERS DIVE AT BOAT IN SHANGHAI FIGHT

Big Guns Rock City of 3,500,000.

BULLETIN.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14 (Saturday).—(AP)—Chinese and Japanese warplanes battled among the clouds over Shanghai today, and incendiary artillery started new fires within the international city despite a pelting rain. Chinese infantry and artillery launched a joint offensive against Japanese positions just outside the northeastern limits of Chapei. Three Chinese land planes appeared over the city shortly after noon. They dipped low, then zoomed back into the dark clouds. A moment later two Japanese seaplanes roared over the city and sped after the Chinese ships. The Japanese cruiser Idzumo turned anti-aircraft guns against the Chinese devil dogs. Cruisers within the harbor had catapulted the Japanese seaplanes into the fight.

SHANGHAI, China, Aug. 14 [Saturday.]—(AP)—Three Chinese warplanes bombed the Japanese cruiser Idzumo today at the northern end of Shanghai's famous Bund, but apparently missed their mark by a narrow margin.

The attackers, appearing over the cruiser with lightning suddenness, dived and loosed one bomb each. The explosions reverberated through the city of 3,500,000 population and enguifed the vessel, which is the flagship of the Japanese fleet here, in a wall of smoke. As the smoke lifted, the Idzumo appeared to be undamaged, but the dock nearby were splintered.

The Japanese unleashed a hail of anti-aircraft fire as the flyers appeared, but the planes escaped. Machine guns and one-pound guns also were pressed into action by the Japanese.

Shrapnel Rains Around Ship.

As the Chinese bombs burst, witnesses of the action saw flames shoot toward the sky. Spectators said shrapnel rained around the Idzumo and nearby buildings.

As the curtain of smoke lifted from the cruiser, Japanese seamen aboard could be seen preparing against possible further raids, throwing out antimine nets and training all guns toward the sky.

The attack on the Idzumo followed the resumption of Chinese-Japanese hostilities early this morning, with the roar of field guns and the chatter of machine fire ushering in another day of anxiety over the fate of the city with its thousands of foreign residents, including 4,000 Americans.

Guns Roar at Dawn.

The thunder of guns, following sporadic night firing after a midnight lull, awakened the populace as the first streak of dawn lighted the sky.

At the same time, the city was struck by a gale, accompanied by a driving rain, which sent thousands of Chinese refugees who were sleeping in the open scurrying for shelter.

As the morning advanced, the battle grew in intensity. The fires in the Chinese sections of the city, which had raged into the night following yesterday's shelling by Japanese artillery, were quenched by the rain or had burned themselves out.

Pathetic scenes were witnessed as the Chinese, gathering their humble belongings, stumbled for shelter against the heavy downpour. Most of them were drenched to the skin before they were able to flatten themselves against doorways or reach protective awnings.

Japs Rush Reinforcements.

Foreign sources expected Japanese reinforcements to arrive from Japan by dawn tomorrow. The Japanese forces now here are heavily outnumbered and would find themselves in difficult straits should the Chinese launch a major offensive on all sectors.

The hostilities, which continued through most of yesterday, ranged from Shanghai itself along the Whangpoo river probably as far as Woosung, ten miles away, where Japanese warships were reported to have bombarded the Woosung forts, commanding the confluence of the Whangpoo and the mighty Yangtze.

The fighting began with rifle exchanges along the Hongkew-Chapei border; each side said the other fired first. It developed into a crescendo of artillery exchanges, with Japanese naval vessels blazing away at the shore. The fine new Jukong wharves of the greater Shanghai municipality were their principal target.

These wharves, recently finished at a cost of $1,500,000, are about half way between Shanghai and the mouth of the Whan-poo. They were blasted and set afire. Two huge fires could be seen throughout the night.

Japanese officers said the wharves harbored a Chinese troop concentration which had fired on a Japanese warship moving upstream. From the shore the Chinese fought back with machine guns and artillery.

The civic center of greater Shanghai—the portions outside the International settlement and French concession under Chinese administration—recently finished at a cost of millions of dollars, appeared gravely threatened.

Flames shot up from that direction. The center's palatial buildings were directly in the path of the conflict. The center is near Kiangwan, north of the international area, in a district practically laid waste in the 1932 war.

MYSTERY TRUCE ENDS

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Aug. 14 [Saturday].—Hostilities between Chinese and Japanese forces in Shanghai, which were renewed today, followed a mysterious truce which extended from 9:30 until 11:30 p. m. yesterday.

An official government report at 3 a. m. today said fighting had been resumed following a lull, with Chinese troops advancing on the Kiangwan road adjacent to Hongkew park [a Japanese controlled area]. The Chinese were said to have reached a position within about 1,000 yards of the Japanese garrison.

This report explained heavy artillery fire which was audible in the international settlement at 2:30 a. m., but there has not yet been an adequate explanation of the truce which mysteriously silenced the artillery of both sides last night following a heavy exchange of land batteries, during which the Japanese were supported by the heavier guns of warships anchored in the Whangpoo river.

Claim Chiang Ordered Truce.

One report said the truce was ordered by Gen. Ho Ying-chin, Chinese minister of war, acting on behalf of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, dictator of China. It was claimed that Ho telephoned Gen. Chang Tse-chung, garrison commander in the Shanghai-Nanking railway sector, and ordered a cessation of firing, while Japanese naval authorities here received similar orders simultaneously. The orders were based supposedly, on the results of a diplomatic exchange at Nanking.

It was reported that the truce was arranged as a result of a friendly suggestion of the foreign consular body in Shanghai. Clarence E. Gauss, United States consul general at Shanghai, was said to have called on Mayor O. K. Yui of the Chinese municipality of Shanghai at 6 o'clock last night and to have offered a friendly suggestion on behalf of the consular body that a truce be arranged to permit war refugees to evacuate the battle areas.

A number of Americans narrowly escaped injury in yesterday's fighting when a clash between Chinese and Japanese infantry occurred on the campus of the University of Shanghai, formerly the Shanghai Baptist college. It is an American missionary institution, of which Dr. Herman Liu, a graduate of the University of Chicago, is president.

Caught in Cross Fire.

About 100 American and Chinese faculty members residing on the campus were caught in the cross fire of the Chinese and Japanese troops. All succeeded in reaching the basement of the science building, where they remained for four hours until the fighting ended, enabling them to escape in automobiles into the international settlement.

In Shanghai's international settlement, where 4,000 Americans and thousands of nationals of other occidental powers have been concentrated, American marines and volunteers and the troops of other powers are on guard. The American marines and British infantrymen were stationed at the northern borders of the settlement, directly across from Chapei. The French concession also was under heavy guard.

The American and British defenders awaited the arrival of reinforcements, which were speeding toward Shanghai aboard warships of their respective Asiatic fleets. The American cruiser Augusta, with Admiral Harry E. Yarnell, commander in chief of the United States Asiatic fleet, aboard, was en route from Tsingtao. Other units of the American Asiatic fleet were on the way from other points on the Chinese coast.

The British cruiser Cumberland, with Vice Admiral Sir Charles Little, commander of the British China squadron, aboard, was also en route from Tsingtao, followed by other British warcraft.

British authorities announced that the 2d batalion of the Royal Welsh fusiliers, 800 strong, had sailed from Hongkong for Shanghai.

Yangtze River Closed.

To protect Nanking, its capital, the Chinese government closed the Yangtze river to navigation below Chinkiang. The Chinese navy, it was announced, blockaded the river about 100 miles above Woosung. Mines and other obstructions have been placed across the channel and shore forts stripped for action. These forts were believed to contain large modern guns.

Previously the Chinese had blockaded the Whangpoo river by sinking junks and old cargo boats off the French concession.

BATTLE AT NANKOW PASS

NANKOW, Hopei Province, China, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Japanese troops battered in vain at Nankow Pass today, failing to dislodge 4,000 Chinese stubbornly defending this important gateway through the mountains from Peiping plain to the broad plateau of Chahar.

Field artillery, bombing planes and tanks supported the Japanese brigade of 2,000 men storming the heights. The Japanese were rushing up thousands more men preparatory to further attacks tomorrow.

Japanese artillery scored direct hits on ancient fortifications at the mouth of the pass and Chinese cannon replied, forcing the attackers to move their field headquarters back a quarter of a mile.

CABINET FORCED OUT BY COUP OF PARAGUAY ARMY

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The resignation of the Paraguayan cabinet was forced by a military coup today which left President Rafael Franco in office. A manifesto issued by Lieut. Col. Paredes, commander of the army, said it was a movement "to confirm" the revolution of Feb. 17, 1936, during which President Franco came into office.

Two Policemen Shot When They Look for Prowler

Two Rogers Park policemen were slightly wounded by a single bullet early today as they investigated a complaint that a prowler was lurking in the rear of 6414 North Washtenaw avenue. The gunman was not seen. The policemen are Rudolph Ziegler and James Corbett. Ziegler received a flesh wound in the calf of the left leg and Corbett a slight wound on the inside of the left leg. They were treated at the Rogers Park hospital and went home.

SPANISH REBELS BOMB AND SINK DANISH VESSEL

4 Planes Raid Ship; 21 on Board Are Saved.

BARCELONA, Aug. 13.—(AP)—A communique tonight reported that four insurgent airplanes bombed and sank the Danish vessel Edith in the Mediterranean 30 miles south of here.

It said the ship's crew of 20 and a French nonintervention control observer were saved through the assistance of two fishing boats from Villanueva y Geltru.

Twenty-five bombs were dropped in the attack which the communique said took place last night. The Edith was listed as a vessel of 1,931 tons.

[In Copenhagen the owners said the Edith was the company's 20th vessel to be captured or bombed by the rebels.]

The insurgent ship Jupiter was reported seriously damaged today in a naval engagement with the government destroyer Ciscar off Gijon, on the northern coast.

Meanwhile, four merchantmen managed to gain the port of Gijon, which the insurgents were attempting to blockade, dispatches said.

Submarine Halts French Ship.

TUNIS, Tunisia, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The captain of the French freighter Peame told Tunis authorities tonight his ship had been halted by an unidentified submarine which fired a torpedo across his bow.

He said the submarine rose after the Peame stopped 20 miles off Bizerta, northwest of here. It floated beside the freighter several minutes, then submerged and vanished, the captain said.

French Radio Stations Accused.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Aug. 13.—(AP)—An official Spanish insurgent statement today accused French radio stations of broadcasting disguised directions to Spanish government supply ships to assist them in running insurgent blockade.

Another official communique took full responsibility for the sinking of the Spanish tanker Campeador in the Mediterranean, declaring it was the work of a rebel cruiser.

The captain of the tanker asserted an Italian destroyer had sunk it.

Close Rebel Consulate.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 13.—Loyalist Spain won a victory on the diplomatic front today. British authorities here gave orders to close the consulate established here by a representative of the Spanish rebel government.

Adolfo Alvarez Buylla, officially accredited consul general of Spain, protested to the Gibraltar governor over the existence of the rebel consulate, which has been functioning busily for the last nine months.

Its principal work has been to issue passports and visas to those who wish to visit rebel territory.

All these passports are illegal, and the rebel consul represented no recognized government, Alvarez Buylla told the British authorities.

3,000 Reported Slain in Uprising.

MADRID, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The newspaper Claridad said today that a special investigation in Gibraltar revealed that at least 3,000 insurgent soldiers were killed or executed during recent uprisings against Generalissimo Francisco Franco in Malaga and Motril. Previous reports placed the deaths at about 500.

FIESTA TODAY STIRS PROTEST OF FRANCO BACKERS

New City, N. Y., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Sponsored by a group of stage, screen and literary luminaries, and with the name of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt heading the list of patronesses, a projected fiesta to aid the children of Spanish loyalists was the focus of a storm of protest tonight from American sympathizers of insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco.

The fiesta is scheduled for tomorrow on the estate of Adolph Zukor, film magnate.

Chief spokesman for the objectors thus far is Mrs. Alice V. O'Leary, wife of Arthur T. O'Leary, New York lawyer and president of the Catholic Laymen's league. Told that Mrs. Caroline O'Day, Democratic representative at large from New York and personal friend of Mrs. Roosevelt's, was among the fiesta's backers, Mrs. O'Leary wired a protest "as one who worked for your election."

Mrs. Henry Varnum Poor, wife of sculptor and chairman of the fiesta committe, said she and others received telephone threats from Franco partisans to "break up" the fiesta. She added Mrs. Roosevelt was said to have declared she was "100 per cent behind the fiesta and hoped to be there."

NAZI COURT O. K.'S OUSTER OF JEWS FROM BUSINESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—Nazi authorities, including Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economics, and Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, have assured Jews repeatedly that they would be allowed to carry on business in Germany. The Hanseatic People's court in Hamburg, however, ruled today that Aryans who are in partnership with Jews have a right to sever their business connections at any time, regardless of a contract involved.

A Jewish partner in a Hamburg tobacco firm was ousted from the partnership because the leader of the local Nazi party organization threatened to withdraw the business permit of the firm if he remained. The Jew went to court, which ruled that "the coöperation of Jews and Aryans must be forbidden on principle."

Julius Klausner, chief owner of Leiser, one of Germany's biggest shoe concerns, recently was given until September to sell his firm to Aryans. He has been the butt of attacks in Julius Streicher's anti-Semitic publication, Der Stuermer.

SICILY 'INVADED' BY A 'RED' ARMY; IL DUCE WATCHES

King Also Sees Opening of War Games.

CASTELVETRANO, Sicily, Aug. 13.—(AP)—King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, Crown Prince Umberto, and Premier Mussolini braved a broiling sun today to witness an "enemy" landing on the shores of this Italian island. It was the opening phase of Italy's annual war games.

Moving rapidly under a smoke screen, the "red" army of invaders landed from warships and transports in face of a stout "blue" defense and began a drive to capture the island.

50,000 Troops Engaged.

Some 50,000 of the country's finest troops maneuvered under the eyes of the king and Il Duce.

Military experts said the problem in Sicily was timely and practical training for Italian arms in view of the Mediterranean situation. It was noted, however, that the war games were scheduled before the recent gestures of friendship exchanged by Italy and Britain.

Some of Italy's best military brains, including Gen. Alberto Pariano, undersecretary of war, observed the maneuvers.

Duce to Address Troops.

After the war games have been completed troops will be concentrated on Aug. 19 at Gibellino, where Mussolini is expected to make an important speech.

During the maneuvers two Japanese training ships, bearing midshipmen from the Japanese Naval academy, arrived at Palermo. The Italian heavy cruisers Fiume and Pola accompanied them.

Admiral Cavagnari, undersecretary of the navy, welcomed them. The king will receive them tomorrow aboard the royal yacht.

LEASE OF SHIPS TO BRAZIL BY U. S. HALTED BY HULL

Washington, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The plan of the United States to lease six over-age decommissioned destroyers to Brazil for training purposes was definitly postponed today after a conference between Secretary Hull and Filipe A. Espil, Argentine ambassador. The circumstances were such as to raise the question whether the project ever would be completed.

Ambassador Espil, whose country opposed the plan, requested time for further discussion. Secretary Hull readily concurred. It is anticipated the senate foreign relations committee will delay action on the measure.

Diplomatic circles believe the legislation will lie dormant during the rest of the present session.

Mrs. T. Roosevelt Jr. and Son in Chinese War Zone

New York, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr. and her son, Quentin, are in beleaguered Shanghai, it was learned tonight. Col. Roosevelt said he had talked with her four days ago by telephone but had not heard from her since. Mrs. Roosevelt and her 19 year old son left here early in the summer for a trip to the Orient which was in the nature of a pre-college gift for Quentin. He has enrolled to enter Harvard in the autumn.

JAPAN REJECTS PROBE OF RAID ON RUSSIA'S TIENTSIN CONSULATE

MOSCOW, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The soviet foreign office announced tonight that Japan had rejected a Russian proposal that an impartial third party commission be named to investigate the raid on Aug. 1 on the soviet consulate in Tientsin, China.

The announcement said Koki Hirota, Japanese foreign minister, told the soviet chargé d'affaires in Tokio that Japan was willing to have a special commission make an investigation. The Russians suggested that consuls of the United States, Great Britain and France form the body, it said, but Japan refused.

In the raid on the soviet consulate many effects were removed. The Japanese denied any connection with the raid. Russian news dispatches from Tientsin reported that Japanese plain clothes men and their White Russian employés were involved.

HEMINGWAY VS. MAX EASTMAN; BOUT OF AGES

New York, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Ernest Hemingway, the bullfightophile novelist, and Max Eastman, left-wing essayist, had a fight in their publisher's office yesterday, they disclosed tonight.

The cause of the fight was a piece Eastman wrote several years ago about Hemingway that might be construed as inferring that he was a professional "he-man."

Their controversy still was going on tonight, with the bone of contention changed to just what occurred at the fight.

Eastman, whose account appeared in afternoon newspapers, gave a colorful description of brilliant banter between the two literary luminaries climaxed by:

Hemingway socking Eastman with a copy of Eastman's book;

Eastman heaving Hemingway backwards over a table;

Both heaving ink bottles and assorted office accessories at each other;

And both being restrained by squads of volunteer seconds.

BERWYN POLICE HEAR JAIL GUEST CHARGE BRIBERY

They Deny It; a Peculiar Case, Says Prosecutor.

Edward Koncil, guest prisoner of the Berwyn police, from whom he escaped three times, repaid the kindness of his captors last night by flinging accusations at them. Then Chief of Police Joseph Pilat and Lieut. George Stava glared at the prisoner and hotly denied the charges.

Acting State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley, who presided over the four hour name calling contest in his office, called a halt at 8 o'clock and ordered everybody back this morning for another session of the inquiry.

"The stories don't jibe," said Mr. Crowley. "On the face of it this case looks peculiar."

Charges Bribes of $5,000 to $10,000.

Koncil, 24 years old, is a paroled robber and a confessed burglar. Last Wednesday morning he made his third escape in five months from the Berwyn police. Early yesterday he surrendered and declared he knew that bribes of from $5,000 to $10,000 had been paid to members of the Berwyn police force.

Since the charges came from an ex-convict and confessed criminal, Prosecutor Crowley expressed doubt of their validity, but he summoned Chief Pilat and Lieut. Stava to his office to hear the complete story of Koncil's recent in-again-out-again career.

Chief Pilat promptly passed the buck to Lieut. Stava, declaring that he didn't know much about the case because Koncil was Stava's prisoner. Stava insisted he had nothing to be ashamed of.

Calls His Escapes Phony.

Then the prisoner was taken to the investigation room, handcuffed to a large policeman, to confront the two police officers.

"All my escapes were phony," said the prisoner.

"They were not," said Lieut. Stava.

The prisoner then declared that while he was occupying a Berwyn police cell he was pestered by members of the force, who, he said, wanted him to help them get a share of bribe money they heard was being paid. He put it this way:

"They'd come to me and say, 'I heard there was a bundle turned over in this case—how can I get in on it?'"

Details Escape Him.

Questioned for particulars, Koncil could give none. He admitted he had never seen any money passed.

His charges were not helped when police brought to the inquiry room Max Schensky, 1134 South Springfield avenue, who has been ordered held to the grand jury on charges of receiving stolen property. Koncil is the principal witness against him.

Asked if he had paid any $5,000 or $10,000 bribes to the Berwyn police, Schensky declared he never had owned or even seen so much money.

"When I was arrested on this charge I had to borrow $50 from my brother-in-law to hire a lawyer," Schensky said.

Although Koncil described Schensky to Prosecutor Crowley as an important fence [receiver of stolen property], it turned out that he is a milkman. Veteran members of the police stolen property detail said they had never heard of him.

Others to Be Questioned.

Schensky was locked up for the night and will be questioned again today, it was announced. Also to be questioned are Otto Bliss, lockup keeper at the Berwyn police station, and Thomas Bartunek, desk sergeant, who were on duty early Wednesday when Koncil sawed a few bars and escaped. Both have been suspended on orders of Mayor Anton Janura of Berwyn.

Late last night Assistant State's Attorney John S. Boyle and Lieut. Thomas Kelly of the state's attorney's police rounded up several persons named by Koncil as having seen him during one of his expeditions away from his cell. These witnesses will be questioned today, Boyle said, in an effort to get at the truth of the conflicting statements made by Lieut. Stava and his guest prisoner concerning when, how, and why Koncil was permitted freedom.

For safekeeping overnight Koncil was taken to the Austin police station. A policeman was stationed at the door of his cell to see that he does not walk away again.

2 WOMEN IN CAR ROBBED OF GEMS IN ROGERS PARK

Police were searching yesterday for a bandit who forced two women to drive over north side streets early yesterday and took $12 in currency and jewelry of undetermined value from them. The women were Mrs. Ethel Beach, 455 Briar place, wife of Elmer Beach, arbitrator for the Illinois Industrial commission, and Miss Sue Hoyne, 428 Oakdale avenue, daughter of Dr. Archibald Hoyne, superintendent of the Municipal contagious diseases hospital.

The two women were returning from Evanston when a trafic light halted them on Sheridan road at Sherwin avenue. Thrusting a revolver through an open window the robber commanded them to be quiet and ordered Miss Hoyne to drive on. In front of 6415 Bosworth avenue, Miss Hoyne was ordered to stop, while he took their money and jewelry.

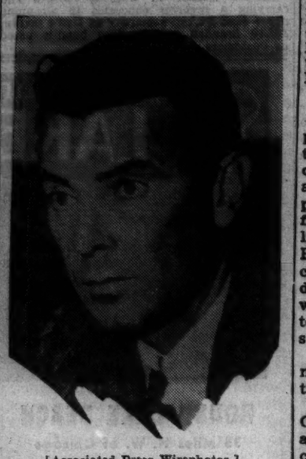
Actress Fights Suit

Constance Worth, film beauty, who is contesting annulment suit, as she appeared on witness stand in Los Angeles yesterday.



[Associated Press Wirephotos.]

George Brent, movie actor and husband of Miss Worth, as he testified in action to void marriage performed in Mexico.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—What George Brent meant when he told attorneys for his actress-wife, Constance Worth, that he got married to her in Tia Juana last May 10 "because of the pressure" brought some heated objections by Miss Worth's lawyers in the court of Superior Judge Charles Haas today.

The two attorneys for the blonde and blue-eyed Australian film girl said they would take up the matter of the so-called "pressure" later in the trial of Brent's action seeking court annulment of the wedding.

Brent insisted the marriage was illegal because the couple, both of whom have been featured in Hollywood movies, had not supplied Mexican authorities with certificates attesting their health, and because they were not attended by the proper number of witnesses who had known them prior to the marriage ceremony. Miss Worth, who gave her real name as Jocelyn Hayworth, contended they entered into the marriage in good faith and was tearfully earnest in court seeking to uphold it. The court balked her lawyer's attempt to record data about Brent's two prior marriages.

NO MONEY PAID IN HORST CASE, SAY PRINCIPALS

Real and Foster Parents of Boy Deny Reports.

No money was paid or received by any of the principals in the temporary settlement of the Donald Horst baby case, Acting State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley found yesterday after conferring with the principals.

Those who met with the prosecutor were Mrs. Lydia Nelson Lavin and John Regan, 4539 Congress street, the blood parents of Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Otto Horst, 6189 McClellan avenue, his foster parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ewert, 2631 West 23d place, friends of Mrs. Lavin and Regan. Donald, 2½ years old, is now in temporary custody of the Horsts with the consent of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and the blood parents.

Money Payment Denied.

Prosecutor Crowley had heard reports that money was paid to settle the child's custody. The six principals denied the reports. Crowley also wanted to know why the blood parents suddenly gave up their fight for Donald. They told him they believed he would fare best with the Horsts. Mrs. Lavin and Regan cleared up another point. They had disappeared from home over the week-end. They explained this as due to a wish for privacy. They are now staying with friends.

"I'm satisfied there was no criminal misconduct," said Crowley after the meeting.

Also attending the conference were Clement Dernbach, assistant state's attorney assigned to the Juvenile court, and Mrs. Estelle Galpern, a probation officer of that court. They served subpenas on the six principals to attend a hearing next Thursday before Judge Frank Bicek of the Juvenile court to determine the dependency of little Donald.

Two Hearings Studied.

Some question arose last night as to whether this hearing will conflict with the hearing for adoption instituted by the Horsts in the County court, scheduled for the following Monday, Aug. 23. The Juvenile court action was begun on Aug. 6—before the adoption proceedings were started—while Donald was in St. Vincent's orphanage.

Lawyers pointed out that while Judge Jarecki has the power to issue adoption orders, the Juvenile court can exert the final say. Thus, for instance, if Judge Jarecki awarded adoption to the Horsts, Judge Bicek could take the child from them and place him under guardianship in an institution.

Since Judge Bicek is scheduled to hold a hearing in the case first—the sole issue will be Donald's dependency—he could place the boy in an institution, the lawyers said. Such action, according to the lawyers, could have an effect on the later proceedings before Judge Jarecki. Even so, the judge could, they said, give the child to the Horsts. Back again the matter could go to Judge Bicek who could return Donald to the institution, and so on.

10,000 in Rogers Park Name and Dedicate Lake Front Park

More than 10,000 Rogers Park residents attended a community celebration yesterday afternoon and last night dedicating Loyola park, on the lake front between Farwell and Morse avenues. The name of the park, formerly known as North Shore park, was selected through a poll conducted by neighborhood newspapers.

Mayor Expresses Pride.

Mayor Kelly was the principal speaker in the evening ceremony. He said he recalled the time when that part of the city was little more than a sand dune.

Expressing pride in the new park, he said its recent expansion and improvement is a step to making Chicago a more beautiful city.

Other speakers included George T. Donoghue, general superintendent of the Chicago park district, and Ald. Frank Keenan [49th], who was general chairman.

A feature of the celebration was the selection of Miss Elaine Mulligan, 20 years old, 1345 Farwell avenue, as queen of Rogers Park. She won over fifty contestants.

A Baby Buggy Parade.

Other events of the day included a baby buggy parade, a roller skate derby, athletic contests, an amateur show, and a fireworks display.

During the day and evening, as part of the celebration, children in costume were admitted free to three moving pictures of the district. Numerous community and patriotic organizations coöperated in the program.

BOARD TO AUDIT 3 CLUBS' SCHOOL LUNCH RECORDS

Auditors of the board of education yesterday called for the books of three women's clubs showing profits accruing from operation of lunchrooms in the Senn, Schurz, and Englewood High schools during the last 20 years or more. An audit, the first to be made by the board, will be a step toward possible inclusion of the lunchrooms in the regular public school system.

James B. McCahey, president of the board, said he had been told that the three clubs made profits totaling $20,000 from the school lunchrooms last year. The profits were distributed among various charities aided by the women's clubs, including student loans, scholarships, and clothing and food funds.

The clubs and the schools where they operate lunchrooms are the Rogers Park Women's club, Senn High school; Irving Park Women's club, Schurz High school, and the Englewood Women's club, Englewood High school. Mrs. J. E. Eipper, president of the Irving Park club, said that although the board never before audited the lunchroom accounts, numerous audits had been made by certified accountants.

ADVISER TO DUKE OF WINDSOR QUITS BRITISH OFFICE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Sir Walter T. Monckton, attorney general to the duchy of Cornwall and adviser to the duke of Windsor, former King Edward VIII. of Great Britain, resigned the office of recorder [chairman of the quarter session] of Hythe, a home office statement disclosed tonight.

Monckton, who played a prominent part in negotiations preceding the abdication of King Edward, held the recorder's office since 1930. His resignation from this law post came as a surprise.

Sir Walter arrived at Castle Wasserleonburg in Carinthia, Austria, on Sunday for a visit of several days to the duke of Windsor and his duchess, the former Mrs. Wallis Warfield [Simpson].

MILITARY SHOW OPENS TONIGHT IN SOLDIERS' FIELD

Seven thousand members of the 33d division, Illinois National Guard, will arrive here this morning by train and truck convoy from two weeks of training at Camp Grant to take part in the military show to be presented tonight and tomorrow night at Soldiers' field. The troops will pitch camp south of Soldiers' field.

Spectators at the show will see the United States army's newest weapons in action. These will include equipment of a unit of the mechanized cavalry from Fort Knox, Ky., and a battery of 155 millimeter howitzers, the heaviest guns now used by the Illinois National Guard.

The show will open at 8 p. m. when 21 airplanes will give a demonstration of aerial acrobatics. Two pageants will be presented. In one the 108th combat engineers, assisted by an attachment of the Black Horse troop, will reënact the Fort Dearborn massacre. The other, the "Battle of the Argonne," will climax the show.

ABOUT RUSSIA

A famous newspaper writer pens a novel of pre-Revolutionary days . . . Two authors—one French, one German—argue pros and cons of today's Russia in companion books . . . Another analyzes Russia's new constitution . . . Still another writer sums up conditions under dictatorship.

These are among the new books reviewed today by Fanny Butcher, literary editor, in the Tribune's book page.

DOC SEES ILLS THAT AIN'T WITH HIS X-RAY EYES

And He Prescribes Color Scheme as Cure.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

"Dr." Theodore Schroder, who describes himself as metaphysician, psychologist and physiotherapist, displays on his walls at 5114 Berteau avenue, a framed diploma from the London Institute of Chromatics, which he obtained in Chicago. He is a specialist in what he calls color vibraology.

A reporter for THE TRIBUNE who consulted him got her stomach and pancreas vibrated with orange color, her solar plexus, which he said was the seat of the subconscious mind, with turquoise blue, and a spot beneath the right shoulder, which Doc Schroder called her seat of love, with violet. All this cost her only $2.

Questioned in Quackery Drive.

Doc Schroder was among six persons questioned earlier this week by the state department of registration and education on citations to show cause why they should not be prosecuted for violating the medical practice act. He used various other colors for different ailments when two investigators for the department visited him in connection with the campaign against medical quackery.

His colors are produced by placing large pieces of colored cellophane, stretched on octagonal frames, between the rays of a large lamp and the patient's prone body.

The system of color vibraology the old doc learned in a course of lessons given by Karl von Schilling, known as the man who brings you health through color rays, in the Great Northern hotel. An announcement of the course obtained by the department of registration explained that Von Schilling would give his complete course consisting of eight dynamic color ray lessons in four nights, lessons which had thrilled London, Berlin, and Hollywood.

A Gift of X-ray Eyes.

"You will be able to analyze yourself and others instantly through color," it read, describing color vibraology. "Hear Karl von Schilling, internationally known vibraologist and color ray scientist, explain the oldest of sciences transformed to meet the present day conditions. How to quickly forecast your life daily through color vibraology. . . . Know your high power color days. Let Von Schilling give you X-ray eyes so you can see through people. . . ."

"A startling new discovery," read this advertisement of Schroder's teacher. "How to use the magic color for personal charm. How to have perfect posture, add inches to your height, correct tipped pelvis, remould sagging, relaxed, under-developed or over-developed busts into firm young and rounded busts. How to sit, stand, and walk gracefully. This lesson thrilled the motion picture colony in Hollywood."

Boasts Variety of Names.

In the windows of Doc Schroder's comfortable two story home on Berteau avenue is a sign reading, "Schroder's Health Studio; Physio-Therapy; Massage." On the wall of the house near the doorway is another sign, "Dr. T. Schroder. Metaphysician." The classified telephone directory lists "Schroder's Health Culture Studio" under "Physio-Therapists."

The reporter was met at the door by Mrs. Schroder, a slender woman wearing a white uniform.

"The doctor is busy. He will be here soon," she said.

She offered the visitor a chair in her living room and indicated a shelf of books near by.

Presently Doc Schroder, a tall, slender, elderly man, dressed in clean white trousers and white starched blouse, approached and directed well trained X-ray eyes on the reporter in the supposedly Von Schilling manner.

"You have a pain in your side," he announced.

His manner veered between the confiding and the compelling. The reporter agreed that the pain was more or less between the stomach and the side.

Her pain was purely inspirational, Doc Schroder having provided the inspiration. She had been declared in sound health and without any need of medical or any other treatment after thorough X-rays and other examinations in Passavant hospital.

"You are worried, too," he said, and his visitor nodded in agreement. "I will give you a combination of the mental treatment and the physical. The color treatment is very good for the nerves. If you tell me what your worry is I will remove it."

Meanwhile, the reporter was to read while he treated a patient. He went into the next room and returned, handing the book to his prospective patient. The book was "Psychology of Sex," by David V. Bush.

Chinese Oil from Bavaria.

During her two hour wait the reporter also was entertained by Mrs. Schroder, who told her about the Chinese oil the doc used on his patients. It could not be obtained in America or China, but was imported by them from Bavaria, she said.

The reporter was ushered upstairs, where Doc Schroder cares for his patients. She waived the proffered salts bath and was directed to lie on a freshly sheeted treatment table.

On the walls were a diploma in physio-therapy, a diploma in Yoga philosophy, and two large colored charts. One showed "Man, His Venous and Nervous Systems." The other was a mysterious chart, also on man.

Picks Out a Violet One.

Doc Schroder wheeled a large lamp to the table, and going to an enormous stack of his colored cellophane apparatus in the corner, picked up a violet screen and attached it to the lamp.

"This is the main healing color," he said. "Now I will give you a mental treatment," he continued while the light was filtering through the violet.

Placing his hands on the reporter's head, he shook them violently for about ten minutes while he chanted in a low, soft voice:

"You are going to have harmony and love in your life. You feel the joy of life! You have health and happiness. You do not know fear. You have courage. You are har-mon-i ous and lov-ing."

With this hand quivering rite he also vibrated a spot in the abdomen where the reporter complained of pain, and the mysterious seat of love and solar plexus. He then hitched up a turquoise blue color plate to the lamp.

"This is to quiet the nerves," he said. "Now repeat this after me: 'I am irradiant. I am wise. I am loving. I am in control of my mind, my body and all its efforts. I will happiness, health, and love.'"

Doc Schroder annointed his patient's feet with oil, rubbing them with a lingering touch. She asked hopefully if he were using the Chinese oil. It was not, but he assured her it was nourishing and sustaining. He rubbed her legs, flexed her knees, telling her to breathe deeply, and said:

"You seem to be sore all over. I guess you're surprised there's so much soreness, aren't you?"

And Finally the Orange.

Once more he went through the business of changing his chromatics. This time he placed an orange color on the lamp. "For the stomach and pancreas, the orange," he said solemnly.

He then dispensed with the lamp, colors and all, and massaged the patient thoroughly. He found the vertebra in the back which caused the stomach trouble, he said, and worked upon it.

"The solar plexus," he said, "influences the whole mind, as the seat of the subconscious. Speak to your husband through his solar plexus. Say: 'All is love and harmony.' Then you will have a harmonious home life."

"Should I speak out loud to his solar plexus?" he was asked.

"Yes, or just think about it, concentrate on it," he said.

In concluding his treatment, he made a speech to the seat of love, keeping his hand trembling under the collar bone, and making a plea: "She shall have youth and beauty, vigor and vitality."

Specializes in All Ills.

"The whole world will seem brighter if you use our methods of healing," is the caption under a picture on an advertising blotter distributed by Doc Schroder. The picture shows a young man and woman walking arm and arm, throwing away an umbrella, while they are bathed in the rays of a rising sun.

"An established physio-therapy center for upbuilding, reducing and the rejuvenation of the body," the blotter copy reads. "Specializing in all known ailments.

"Let us bring back the joy of living! You too can enjoy good health and happiness. I have helped thousands. I can help you . . . Dr. Theodore Schroder, metaphysician, psychologist, and physio-therapist."

SEARCH FOR BODY OF TEACHER LOST IN BOAT TRAGEDY

Milford, Conn., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Grappling irons were trailed by small craft in Long Island sound today in a search for the body of Mrs. Charlotte Lucas, 35 years old, Bridgeport school teacher. She has been missing since Wednesday night, when her companion was forced to abandon her after their sailboat capsized in a storm.

George W. Thorpe of New Haven, who is recovering from exposure at Milford hospital, said he tied her to an oyster stake, where he hoped she would be safe while he swam ashore for aid.

She struggled free and sank, Thorpe told police. He recovered her unconscious body by diving and attempted to bring her ashore. But when they were half way to the beach, police said Thorpe told them, he had to let go of the teacher or both would have gone down.

CHILDREN PARADE LOOP IN CRUSADE AGAINST SYPHILIS

1,500 March; Hear De Kruif Explain Civic Goal.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Carrying banners, "Chicago Will Stamp Out Syphilis," 1,500 boys and girls, volunteers from the National Youth administration, paraded through the loop at noon yesterday to the city hall, where they heard addresses on the campaign to bring venereal disease under control.

Paul de Kruif.

Afterward the marchers scattered to all parts of the city with packages of ballots to distribute in apartment buildings, hotels, and boarding houses in the referendum asking citizens whether they are willing to submit to voluntary, free, and secret blood tests for syphilis.

Speakers Hail Parade.

Speakers hailed the parade as a children's crusade against a plague which could not be mentioned a few years back, but which now is being dragged into the open where science and medicine can combat it. "Our Children Must Be Free from Syphilis" read one of the banners.

At the La Salle street entrance to the city hall, Paul de Krulf, author, addressed the marching boys and girls.

"A year ago," he said, "syphilis for you young folks and your parents, too, was mysterious, a secret shame. Its name could hardly be whispered among respectable people. Today you have dared to march under syphilis-defying banners. It is you young fighters who have smoked one of mankind's most secret enemies out into the open.

Praises Youth Challenge.

"There need be no shame about it, the test is absolutely confidential. You ask why everybody should have this blood test. Our doctors cannot tell just by looking at people whether they have syphilis. There is the rub.

"Chicago is the first city that has dared to take up the challenge of this battle. Strain your nerves to bring back the ballots; we have no worry about whether the votes will be yes or no. If we can uncover the hidden syphilis, the doctors can treat it, kill the microbes. Then there'll be no more syphilitic people to give the disease to healthy babies, innocent boys and girls, young men and women."

14 NONOPERATING RAIL UNIONS O. K. 5c PAY INCREASE

Ratification of a new wage agreement providing a pay increase of 5 cents an hour for more than 750,000 members of 14 nonoperating railroad brotherhoods, which concern all railroad work except the actual movement of trains, was voted by general chairmen of the unions at the Morrison hotel. Simultaneously, leaders of the operating brotherhoods—trainmen, conductors, firemen, engineers, and switchmen—continued their independent wage negotiations with management representatives at 159 North State street.

The increase for the nonoperating employés—retroactive to Aug. 1—will average 8¾ per cent and will add about 98 million dollars to railroad pay rolls. The increase was a compromise on the 20 cents originally demanded. The operating brotherhoods are asking a 20 per cent increase. Their negotiations will be resumed Monday.

TAVERN ROBBED OF $1,100.

Bandits dressed in working clothes and carrying a revolver concealed in wrapping paper took $1,100 yesterday at Dad's tavern, 13549 Brandon avenue. The bandits posed as customers.

HELPER ON TRUCK DIES OF VIADUCT CRASH INJURIES

Rag Picker Is Hurt by Hit and Run Auto.

Andrew Blaszczyk, 44 years old, 1836 West 17th street, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries incurred Wednesday night when a beer truck on which he was working as a helper crashed against a viaduct abutment of the Santa Fe railroad near Ashland avenue and 30th street. Blaszczyk was thrown to the pavement fracturing his skull.

The death of Robert Litz, 16, of 2130 North Hamlin avenue, who was fatally injured on Aug. 1 when he was hit by an automobile at 66th street and Western avenue, was accidental, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. Eugene Rowley, 34, of 616 East 92d street, the driver, testified that Litz walked in front of his car.

Car Hits Train; Girl Hurt.

Miss Cecelia Marie Corcoran, 18 years old, 8209 Evans avenue, and Robert Davis, 20, of 8146 Langley avenue, a clerk, were seriously injured early today when they smashed their automobile into the side of a freight train on the Indiana Harbor Belt railway at 103d street and Ridgeland avenue, in Chicago Ridge. They were taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital, each suffering from a suspected skull fracture. Police said that the grade crossing where the accident occurred is unprotected.

Mrs. Millie Anderson, a clerk in the city treasurer's office, and for many years a precinct captain in the 29th ward, was near death in the Bethany hospital last night from pneumonia resulting from injuries incurred Sunday when she was struck by a hit and run automobile at Ogden avenue and Harrison street. The driver stopped his new car some distance away, ran back to look at his victim, and then fled. Mrs. Anderson is 67 years old and lives at 3619 Lexington street.

Private's Body Returned.

The body of Private John Paris, 20, who was fatally injured near Rockford, Ill., Thursday during maneuvers of the Illinois National Guard, is to be returned to his home at 703 South Claremont avenue today for burial. Paris was crushed between a military truck and a bridge girder over the Sugar river, north of Rockford.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 639 persons had been killed in automobiles accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 496 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 13,631 were injured in trafic accidents in the city.

[See editorial page for massacre clock.]

CAR THEFT GANG ARRESTED; LED BY A BOY OF 13

Five youths who had a ringleader only 13 years old were being held at the state's attorney's office yesterday as automobile thieves. Lieut. John Kelly, head of the stolen auto detail of the prosecutor's office, said he expects the arrests to solve the theft of 20 to 30 automobiles.

Joseph Sterrett.

The alleged leader of the gang is Joseph Sterrett, 3509 Jackson boulevard. He and Fred Goy, 16 years old, 3317 Warren boulevard, were arrested on July 13 at Homan avenue and Madison street. They refused to name their accomplices, but the police arrested three other boys as members of the gang.

The three arrested yesterday are Victor Ray, 16 years old, 1922 North Humboldt boulevard; Albert Horowitz, 16, 2053 North Sawyer avenue, and Alex Port, 15, 4010 Arthington street.

SHOOTS THREE CHILDREN, THEN KILLS HIMSELF

Long Beach, N. Y., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—A father's attempt to annihilate his three children and himself resulted in the death of three persons. A five year old girl is near death in Long Beach hospital.

Mattel Hordachewski, 31, a gardener, shot his three daughters in their Little Island Park home, near Long Beach. Then rushing to the bathroom, he attempted to decapitate himself with an old-fashioned razor. Failing in that, he shot himself.

The wife and mother was in the house at the time.

BAR 3 MOTORISTS FROM DRIVING; 2 ARE SENT TO JAIL

Prohibitions against driving were handed to three motorists in Safety court yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty. Two of these drivers were sent to the county jail for ten days for driving while drunk. They are Charles Gorman, 29 years old, 6758 Wentworth avenue, who was ordered not to drive for 180 days, and John Feid, 45, of 5410 Montclaire avenue, forbidden to drive for 120 days.

The third driver, Edward Paska, 23, of 4543 South Mozart street, was fined $10 and suspended from driving for sixty days for leaving the scene of an accident.

These suspensions brought the total in Chicago to ninety-three since the Illinois drivers' law was enacted on July 15.

CHARGE MURDER TO EX-TEACHER; POISON IN BODY

Push Quiz on Mysterious Death of Five Men.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anna Hahn, 31 years old, former German school teacher, was charged with murder this afternoon in the death of George Gsellman, 67, one of five men who died mysteriously after the comely woman had been "good to them."

Lieut. George Schattle after the charge was filed by Detective City Chemist O. P. Behrer reported discovering traces of metallic poison in Gsellman's body.

"If I'm in trouble it's because of my goodness to old people," declared the former teacher who had been held on murder and grand larceny warrants.

"I am so-o-o big hearted," she added.

Admits Knowing Five.

Under questioning the woman admitted knowing four of the men whose deaths are under investigation and said she ministered to them during their illnesses. She denied, however, that she gave them anything harmful.

But she also admitted buying a bottle of poisonous oil which was turned over to police yesterday by her second husband, Philip Hahn, a telegrapher.

The deaths being investigated were those of Gsellman, Jacob Wagner, 78 years old; Ernst Kohler, Albert Palmer, 72, and George Obendoerfer, 67.

Evidence of Two Poisons.

City Chemist Behrer reported to Prosecutor Dudley M. Outcalt the discovery of metallic poison and also evidence of an oil poison in the vital organs of Gsellman. Police said a woman identified as Mrs. Hahn had been seen with Gsellman on July 5, the night before his death.

The prosecutor ordered a grand jury investigation a few minutes after receiving from Behrer a report that a bottle found in the woman's home contained a violent metallic poison. Outcalt said: "This convinces me she used two poisons."

Worker Tells Drunken Indiana Wedding.

with baseball bats, the last time on Aug. 8.

"I have never in my life married a couple if either or both were under the influence of liquor," declared Justice of the Peace Minas last night "I have married some young couples late at night but I don't remember this case at all. There must be some mistake."

The two other recent cases at which Minas officiated, and the charges made in the annulment bills, are: Mrs. Anna Bukovski Sylvester, who accused Lawrence Sylvester of forcing her into marriage; and Mrs. Eva Shlagman Yacullo, 16, of South Sawyer avenue, who said she was drunk when she married Anthony Yacullo, 1109 South Troy street.

There is no court record of the fourth elopement in which Kenneth Tapke, of Pontiac, a former Chicago bank clerk, alleged that he was forced into a shotgun marriage with Miss Gayton Renzina, 9012 Aberdeen street.

Niles Center Police Ride Bicycles in Prowler Hunt

Niles Center police bicycle squads began pedaling through the suburb last night in search of prowlers. The idea, as Chief Ted Heinz explained, is that policemen on bicycles can cover more territory at little expense. And to make sure they do, the chief said, each bicycle is equipped with mileage meters so the distance patroled each night can be checked. The bicycles are to be used in addition to the regular squad cars.

Mother and Son, 6, Meet Again After Three Years

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Mrs. Victor G. Elliott and her six year old son, Arthur, who had not seen each other for three years, were reunited today. The son arrived here last night, after crossing the Atlantic ocean and the United States alone, wearing a tag which explained that he speaks only German.

4 YEAR OLD GIRL RAPED AND SLAIN NEAR N. Y. BEACH

Mutilated Body Found in Deserted Bungalow.

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The body of a 4 year old girl who had been strangled, mutilated, and raped was found today in the cellar of an old bungalow in the marshes of South beach, Staten island.

The latest victim of a sex mad degenerate was Joan Kuleba. Her mother, seriously ill in Manhattan, had sent her to the home of an aunt in South beach for care.

A fisherman setting out on a crabbing expedition found the body of the child, who had been missing since yesterday and given up by relatives as drowned.

Protection Demanded.

Disclosure of the tragedy came at the height of an angry public demand—backed by Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, justices and magistrates, state and city officials—that immediate steps be taken to protect the city's children from sex maniacs.

Joan, clad in a bathing suit, romped yesterday with other children on the sands of the beach near the home of her aunt, Mrs. Grace Lesandi. Toward afternoon she disappeared, and Mrs. Lesandi notified police.

Shoes Left Near Water.

A general alarm was sent out last night and detectives were assigned to the case. They searched the sands of South beach carefully and found the little girl's shoes and socks near the boardwalk. This led to the belief the child had waded out too far and had been drowned.

But, even while patrolmen from the marine division were grappling for Joan's body in nearby waters, her ravished body was found in the deserted bungalow near the beach. Police said a strangling rope was around her neck; that a keen blade had slashed her from the throat to the waist, and that she had been raped.

This was the second sex murder of a child in this city within two weeks.

MR. ROOSEVELT PICKS A JUDGE.

Mr. Roosevelt wanted to appoint six judges of the Supreme court.

He was given the opportunity to appoint one.

He wanted to appoint a member of the United States senate.

The one he was apparently under obligation to put on the bench died.

Still Mr. Roosevelt wanted a senator for judge and naturally he looked over the names of the men who had tried to be most useful to him.

There was good strategy in seeking a senator for the exalted position because if the appointee should be pretty thoroughly disqualified and unfitted for the position the senators who have the confirming power would be reluctant to dissect one of their own membership and really find out what was in him before they gave him the place.

Mr. Roosevelt had made known the type of man he wanted on the Supreme court bench when he demanded six new ones. He wanted judges who would be as congenial to his purposes as the congressmen he used.

Mr. Roosevelt, looking over the available senators, picked the one who would be generally regarded as the worst he could find. He chose Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama. For administration purposes the appointee needed only one qualification and that he preëminently has. In addition to his almost complete disqualification as a man of legal training and understanding, he has the virtue of being a consistently reliable "yes" man and a wildcat economist.

In his own state Senator Black has been the political favorite of one of the most ill-featured political groups in the United States, the Ku Klux Klan.

He obtained his legal experience as Birmingham police judge and as prosecuting attorney of Jefferson county, Ala. His experience on the bench has been limited to 18 months in police court.

He made himself known in the United States senate as the most conscienceless violator of the rights of citizens who ever had charge of an investigation into the private affairs of the people. Any inquiry he conducted as head of a committee became known as a Black inquisition.

Less than a year ago the United States Court of Appeals declared him a violator of the law in his attempts to impound private papers and telegrams of citizens, and his investigators conducted themselves very much along the line approved by the Klux night riders.

As a senator he has been known as one of the most vindictive and violent opponents of an independent Supreme court, and if his nomination is confirmed he will take his place on the bench with men whose reputations he has besmirched. Even the Democratic senators who are to be responsible for his confirmation call the choice deplorable. One senator exclaimed: "Thank God there was only one appointment instead of six to be made."

Except in the circumstances in which Senator Black's name is presented, he could not get within fifty miles of the Supreme court building as a judge of the bench therein sitting.

If Mr. Roosevelt wanted to degrade the Supreme court he has made a good effort.

If he wanted the worst man he could find he has him.

COTTONWOODS.

The governor's office in the Kansas capitol at Topeka is paneled with cottonwood. Its use is a tribute to the tree which, in a state more justly noted for its citizens than its summers, was in many counties the only source of shade and firewood the first settler found.

As trees go, it wasn't so much, but such as it was the early Kansans were grateful for it and honored it. Their eyes hungered for the elms and maples of New England, and Ohio, and Illinois, and the cottonwoods in the creek bottoms furnished some solace. The forty-niners and their predecessors of the Santa Fe trail thought less highly of the tree after they tried to mend their wagons with its brash wood.

However much the Kansans may honor it, the cottonwood and its cousins of the native poplar family are bad boys in Chicago. They are all pushovers for a high wind because of their weak wood and shallow root system, lacking a taproot to hold them firm. The windstorm last Wednesday night brought the Commonwealth Edison company more than a thousand reports of interrupted service, the majority due to trees or branches blown across wires. Not all of the offending trees were cottonwoods, but many were.

The seeds which give the tree its name are a nuisance to housewives, as writers to the Voice of the People testified recently. The shallow root system, running just beneath the sod, robs grass of nourishment, and where it wanders under sidewalks and concrete drives frequently cracks them by slow pressure.

Furthermore, Chicagoans don't have to depend on the cottonwood for shade. The stately elm and the maple grow well here, even in the sandy districts near Lake Michigan, where most of the cottonwoods are found, survivors of prairie days. Nurserymen recommend the Chinese elm, which grows nearly as fast as the poplar family and is believed to be immune to Dutch elm disease. The catalpa, while it has defects, combines quick growth with a safe root system.

The cottonwood's greatest defect, of course, is its tendency to come crashing down whenever a high wind strikes it. Most home owners will find it profitable to sacrifice a few years' shade for safety and beauty by removing cottonwoods and replacing them with other trees.

RUSSIA'S ONE AND ONLY.

Among the Russian comrades who could now with reason be looking under the bed for G. P. U. investigators in search of wreckers are the commissar of education and the managers of the state publishing trust. Izvestia, the government newspaper, reports that there will be no textbooks ready when the little children of the soviets are to return to school. The bureau of education and the publishing firm have fallen down on the job because Comrade Stalin has made so many changes in Russian history of the last ten years that the editors and historians cannot keep up with his work.

Texts formerly in use did not include the consequences of the great purges of the party in the last two years. Names formerly held up to the admiration of the children are now the names of men executed for treason or men accused of traitorous acts. For this year's school session there is only one Pilgrim Father and only one Great Founder. He is Stalin. Formerly the texts taught that Trotzky, Zinoviev, Kamenev, Rykov, Bukharin, and numerous others of the Lenin brotherhood were the Founders. Now they are to be executed.

Germany had the same difficulty in rearranging German instruction so as to put all of Germany's greatness as post-Hitler. Religious instruction must conform to Nazi ideas and the non-Aryan had no place in the German child's thoughts. Musicians, artists, writers, and warriors must be expunged from German history before the Nazi child can be safely reared in the better life.

It is a smart historian, editor, and educator who can keep up with a dictator who remakes history in his own name nearly every month. Stalin is to be all the Russian George Washingtons.

ENGINEERING THE ONLY ANSWER.

Nineteen lives were lost in the collapse of a tenement building on Staten Island. Six workers were smothered in a mine cave-in. The public reads such news with horror. Twenty-two persons lost their lives in automobile wrecks within seven days on Chicago streets, and it is regarded as a matter of course. In the same period the massacre clock indicated that 555 persons were painfully injured, and it is "just another week."

Since THE TRIBUNE editorially emphasized the registration of the thirteenth thousand on July 30, thirty-six persons have been killed and 992 injured. The average of three fatalities daily sets an all-time record. So did the casualty list of Aug. 10, when five persons lost their lives and 199 were more or less mangled or disfigured. The carnage more nearly resembles the work of Mars than that of the peacetime use of a convenience that we frequently call a "pleasure car."

During the entire period the trafic courts were crowded as they usually are. Armed with the new law, judges deprived over one hundred reckless and drunken drivers of the right to operate an automobile. In one case where an individual violated this court order he was sentenced to thirty days in prison. The cumulative effect of the added severity has been an increase in the daily ratio of killings and maimings, to prove definitly that law enforcement is not an adequate answer.

There is but one solution—engineering. Build safety highways that will protect the pedestrian from the motorist, the operators from each other, and, to a certain extent, from themselves. These slayings are not planned, willfully courted, or guided by any impulse readily corrected by law. We are a free, high-strung people who work at best under competitive conditions, and these characteristics dictate our driving habits. The nature of the people cannot be changed, so the thoroughfares must. If we are to make any headway against this awful slaughter we must "Build Deathproof Highways."

Editorial of the Day

WANTED: A HAPPY MEDIUM.

[Cincinnati Enquirer.]

Robert H. Cabell, president of one of the nation's largest packing houses, in an address at a meeting of the National Association of Retail Meat Dealers in Cincinnati, pointed out that "high prices caused by scarcity do not in the long run mean fair profits."

The point is one that merits wider attention than it has received in most discussions of the farmer's problems. Many people are inclined to believe, when farm produce prices become very high, that the farmers are becoming rich, when, as a matter of fact, the farmers may not be faring at all well. Extraordinarily high prices more likely indicate a shortage of farm produce, and when a farmer's production is radically reduced the higher prices he gets for what he produces help him little or not at all.

What all farmers hope for is neither scarcity nor overabundance, but an output which makes possible the greatest returns for work and land usage. Scarcity can be as hurtful to a farmer as overproduction, even though in one case the folks in the city may be paying 75 cents a pound for beefsteak and in the other case buying enough pork chops for a meal for 15 cents.

A few days ago steak was selling for as much as 75 cents a pound in Chicago, while receipts at the Chicago live stock yards were the smallest in 59 years. Obviously, both farmers and consumers were losing money as a result of stock scarcity. The blame attaches in part to the scarcity policies of the defunct Agricultural Adjustment administration, but it is only fair to point out that several seasons of drouth swung the pendulum much farther toward scarcity than the Agricultural Adjustment administration had planned.

This year, with feed and other crops promising to be abundant, an opportunity will be created for the lowering of farm prices by next year at least—nor will it necessarily involve a loss to the farmers. The attainment of a happy medium for the farmer would bring with it a little more happiness for the folks who buy his output.

FOUND.

All through a hocky match an enthusiast had loudly urged the home team on to victory. Finally he became hoarse with shouting.

Turning to his pal, he said: "Say, mate, I believe I've lost my voice."

"Don't worry," was the reply; "you'll find it in my left ear hole."—Exchange.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

WE HAVE LONG nursed the hope that a whimsical telephone operator would some day say "'E' for 'ewe'" or "'P' for 'psychic.'" Now through the public prints comes the disappointing news that the company keeps an approved list of words posted, and we conclude that the lassie of our dreams could not undertake any imaginative flight without landing in deep trouble.

Since the list tries to keep to first names, its failures are significant. Some letters of the alphabet (Q, U, X, Y, and Z) are ill provided, apparently, with names acceptable to the anonymous author of the tabulation. Such exotics as "Quentin," "Uriah," "Xerxes," "Yvonne," and "Zeno" are rejected in favor of "Quaker," "Utah," "X-ray," "Young," and "Zebra"; and a not too colorful business is denied that splash of yellow by which it might have profited so mightily.

The story, however, is not without its compensations. We learn a little farther down that the telephone company has put its brains to work on one of the major problems of our civilization and has decided that in case of dispute the calling party must be put on first. We have often trembled at the danger to which the world is exposed when one important man 'phones another and each one refuses to pick up the instrument until his secretary assures him that the other is actually on the line. Almost anything could happen to business while the great ones sulk heavily in their offices, bending clips into ever angrier and more determined shapes.

BLAME "Ten o'Clock Tommy" for this one:

Trainman (furiously busy): "Lady, we stop at nothing!"

THE RECENT story of the fate of American comic characters in foreign lands (Donald Duck becomes El Pato Donald for the Spanish speaking trade and Mickey Mouse turns up as El Raton Miguelito) reminds one inevitably of the dozens of good tales which cluster around this whole subject of translation. Our own favorite is a Frenchman's rendering of "Out, out, brief candle!" as "Sortez, Chandelle." "Love's Last Shift" turned into "La Dernière Chemise de l'Amour," seems a worthy runner-up.

F. T. S. WANTS to know the author of the phrase, "His foe was folly, and his weapon wit," which is inscribed on the Gilbert monument in London. He has queried Gilbert and Sullivan zealots in vain.

GREAT THOUGHT or profound emotion seems to find its one proper form of expression almost automatically. It does not matter whether the speaker or writer happens to be a recognized "stylist" or not. You can hardly imagine the Gettysburg address or Edward's abdication speech decked out in a mess of Latin derivatives and bristling with involved clauses. Let us hope for the sake of this thesis that Edward actually wrote the latter himself. Lincoln's authorship of the Gettysburg address is well authenticated.

DIAGNOSIS.

(An afternoon paper, via Winky.)

Physicians said he was not out of danger but that the longer he lived the better were his chances of surviving the five bullet wounds he suffered in a battle with

NICE SWIMMY THOUGHTS. a) In outer space there is neither up nor down, neither frontwards nor backwards nor sideways. b) If this is a finite universe, what exists beyond the farthest galaxies? Nothing, they say. But wouldn't that mean just some more space? No, not even space. Just nothing!

DANIEL FRANCIS CLANCY, who lives in Logansport, Ind., and who is possessed (no connection) by an immoderate love of alliteration, day dreams of the time when America will be a communistic state and he can announce the candidacy of Comrade Clancy for Commissar of Cass county. We have no wish to be a wet blanket, yet we doubt whether commissars are chosen in the manner which this suggests.

W. D. LOVES to search the mass of daily news matter for evidence of trends and clews to the destiny of nations. He is moved by the dust storms to remark that in older times people went west to settle on the land and that nowadays the land goes east to settle on the people.

OUR FAVORITE excerpt from the literature of criticism is Mme. Maeterlinck's comment on Charlie Chaplin. "He is so funny with the patisserie. He is an artist the way he throw the pie." And in the field of the criticism of criticism, the most joyous flower is Mencken's statement that Huneker (always a believer in the artistic importance of character and personality) could never make up his mind about a symphony until he had seen the composer's mistress or a good portrait of her.

HOW SOME CHICAGOANS BATTLED DEPRESSION

THE TRIBUNE here presents the story of another Chicagoan who, workless but with high courage, faced the recent depression and fought through it without applying for relief. There is no inference to be drawn that all could have done it; nevertheless the case cited is inspiring. This and succeeding cases are from the files of the Illinois state employment service.

Jane Claiborne, a colored woman, was 45 and making $175 a month in 1934 when she lost her job as postal clerk under the national economy act. She had held the job for 15 years, but not long enough to be eligible for a pension.

She had a few hundred dollars in the bank and an aged, ill mother to support. All efforts to obtain work were fruitless. "My gray hair," she said, "tells against me." When her small savings were exhausted friends suggested she apply for relief, but she refused. Instead she did sewing, when she could get it, for $1 or $1.50 a day, or tended children for 50 cents an afternoon.

In June, 1936, her mother, eligible for old age assistance, received her first monthly check. It was for $27. "But," protested the daughter, "I couldn't use any of that. She needed it for special food and medicines."

For three years she struggled along. Recently she obtained steady employment as housekeeper for a Beverly Hills family. She formerly made $1,980 a year. She now makes $8 a week and carfare.

THE STRAIGHT CHILD.

THERE was a time, a few generations ago, when one who was club-footed or humpbacked was regarded as possessing demoniac powers. His birth was said to be the result of a curse because of some horrible sin on the part of his parents. Superstition surrounded him with fear and loathing. Many believed that deformed infants represented the will of an avenging God.

Happily we have emerged from this era with a clear understanding of many of the causes of crippling. The position of the child before birth, or amniotic bands, may be responsible, and we know now that humpback is usually the result of tuberculosis acquired in infancy or early childhood.

There has developed a special branch of surgery called orthopedics—from two Greek words meaning "straight child"—which endeavors to restore the balance of the limbs, facilitate walking, adjust the spine to its proper position, and correct postural deformities, bowlegs, knock-knees, etc.

Military experts tell us that the feet are the working parts of the body. Despite the fact that most of us walk far less than we should, nevertheless we wish to take our pedestrian exercises in comfort. In a sense the feet constitute the underpinning of the body—a moving foundation—and many a backache and legache may be ascribed to the improper functioning of the bones, tendons, or muscles of the pedal extremities. A high percentage of our population does not take the time or the care necessary to shoe the feet properly or to exercise them adequately. When there is pain we try countless remedies, only to realize that neither powders nor plasters will help. In despair the orthopedic surgeon is consulted, and in a large number of the cases relief is obtained.

The orthopedist is not only skilled in the technique of surgery, but he is a reconstructive architect of the body. His field is an extensive one. Until we find the cause of poliomyelitis we shall have to rely upon these experts to help point the way to muscle restoration. Less often do we see children and adults whose muscles have wasted away because of this disease walking about wearing weighty harness to give them support. The remaining muscles are now utilized, and tendon transplants are able frequently to restore body balance. In some cases of paralysis independent activity may be reëstablished. We need not consign these afflicted children to a life of helpless invalidism. In fact, getting them up and about, even though the gait is slow, will in itself constitute an important victory, both physical and moral.

Fortunately the general advance along the entire frontier of medicine has practically eliminated certain conditions which formerly produced handicaps. A generation ago, although we knew something about rickets, we did not know its true cause. Perhaps even now we are not certain, but we are aware that it is a deficiency malady and that the feeding of generous amounts of vitamin D—sunlight and cod liver oil—provides the essentials which protect against it. Today we see fewer cases of bowlegs and knock-knees because the child's diet is adequate. The number of cases treated is less than one-tenth of the total of twenty-five years ago.

What has become of Pott's disease [tuberculosis of the spine]? It does occur, but far less frequently, and if it appears we know exactly what to do. Clean milk, better food, and more outdoor exercise can banish it entirely.

Perhaps it was a silly desire on the part of our remote ancestors to wish to stand upright, as there are many anatomical structures which show all too plainly that man was originally designed to walk on all fours. But somebody evidently wanted to reach higher in the trees for fruit, and the stretching-up process began. As a result, each of us is fighting gravity, and we must develop to the optimum the structures that will enable us to win the battle. We must not let our muscles become so tired that they fail to support the bony skeleton—allow it to bend, to slouch.

We all love ease and seek it as the line of least resistance. Some of us shun exercise because it is work. Others permit their shoulders to droop forward and inward, and then wonder why they have pains in the back. Even when seated we are likely to assume ungainly attitudes. Nature intended that we use at least a modicum of intelligence in avoiding abuses of our muscles and bones. If we are erect as we sit, stand, or walk, and then lie flat without a pillow when tired, we shall be doing the job properly.

If the abdominal muscles sag forward the whole economy of the viscera may be upset, circulation is slowed, and there is a constant pull on the stomach, the liver, and the colon. Then, too, whenever the normal forward curve in the spinal column becomes exaggerated or, as we say, when the back is excessively hollow, the kidneys may become displaced and some day there may be a great how-do-you-do because, for example, a ureter [tube leading from the kidneys to the bladder] has become kinked.

Yes, surgery for the crippled has made great forward strides, but it behooves the "orthopedos"—the straight child—through proper instruction to remain so.

SORE ON LIP.

C. I. T. writes: I am 55 years old and in good general health. Last January a tender spot about as large as a pea came in the center of my lower lip. The skin was not broken but was slightly redder than the surrounding area. I thought it was a cold sore or possibly a burn from drinking too hot coffee. The red spot is now somewhat larger and still very tender, although I have tried not to irritate it. Applying vaseline and mercurochrome seems to do no good. It is not painful, just more sensitive than the rest of the lip. For instance, pepper which does not sting the other skin at all bites that spot noticeably. Examining it closely in the mirror, the skin there looks thinner or as if it had been scalded just enough to bring the blood close to the surface. So far as I can tell the trouble is strictly superficial, and I would think nothing of it if it were not for the peculiar way it hangs on. Could it be beginning cancer?

REPLY.

If this tender spot has existed since January, I certainly would have some competent physician examine it. You may have injured the tissues slightly and not recall the incident. I doubt that it is cancer, but at the same time I would seek a critical inspection of the area, including the glands beneath the jaw.

From Across the Sea

BY HAROLD TATAM.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES.—The rapid industrialization of Argentina is so pleasing to the Industrialists' union that it loses no opportunity to draw public attention to the long list of goods, formerly imported, which are now being made in the country. The union is clamoring for more and higher tarifs in order that the good work should be extended. The industrialization also is frequently made the theme of a pæan of praise and thanksgiving by many of the Argentine newspapers.

It is often cited in articles on Argentine progress appearing in foreign publications, and especially in those by writers so greatly impressed by official figures showing the capital invested and the number of workers employed in these industries that they do not investigate the matter any deeper.

The reverse of the medal is seldom contemplated and still less frequently made the subject of comment by publicists, but it has not escaped observation altogether. It was pointed out by some newspapers recently—notably by the Buenos Aires Herald—that the wealth that has accrued to Argentina by reason of the remarkable development of industry is concentrated in very few hands and that the average wage of the workers employed in industrial undertakings is shamefully low.

The latest statistics show that half a million people employed in national industries earn an average monthly wage of 97.90 pesos [$7.50 per week]. At the same time the department of labor's estimate of the cost of living to a married laborer with three children—the absolute minimum figure—is $9.10 per week.

LEGALIZATION OF ENTRY.

Chicago, Aug. 9.—[Friend of the People.]—A Canadian born man entered the United States in December, 1923, and did not pay his head tax. His birth certificate could not be located. He has not been back since that time and is desirous of taking a trip this summer and would like to know what to do so as not to have any difficulty with the immigration authorities. He would like to pay his head tax and take out citizenship papers. Please advise what he can do about it.
M. R.

Under existing legislation, only those aliens who entered the United States prior to June 3, 1921, and have not been absent therefrom since that time, and of whom there is no record of arrival, may apply for legalisation of their residence here.

There is a bill pending in congress to extend this privilege to aliens who entered the United States prior to July 1, 1924, and have not been absent therefrom since that time, and of whom there is no record of arrival. Under present conditions, the subject, if he leaves the United States, will require an immigration visa to reënter.

A RAILROAD MERGER.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—Are you ready and willing to start a campaign to save one of Chicago's best railroads, the Chicago and North Western, from death by starvation?

If so please get busy and try to persuade the Illinois Central to acquire the C. & N. W. and combine the two railroads into a powerful north and south railroad system, covering most of the Mississippi valley from the Gulf of Mexico to Lake Superior.

At its conception the C. & N. W. was intended to be an east and west railroad. If it continues to operate independently it is doomed to starvation.

As the northwestern section of the great Illinois Central-Georgia Central system the C. & N. W. will begin to receive more trafic and this enlarged north and south railroad system will have ports on the Great Lakes, the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic ocean, and its ship line from Savannah to New York and Boston.

The original survey of the Illinois Central went through Chicago to Milwaukee, but for some unfortunate reason the Wisconsin end of the I. C. was built from Freeport to Madison and Dodgeville instead of from Chicago to Milwaukee.

The Illinois Central has a very progressive and public spirited management and its extension over the C. & N. W. will make a great improvement in the financial welfare of that railroad. The various lines of the C. & N. W. and I. C. will coördinate very harmoniously in Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota. In Chicago the C. & N. W. has many freight terminals which can be used to their full capacity if they are used jointly by the I. C. When the I. C. and C. & N. W. are consolidated their combined facilities will reach into all sections of the Chicago industrial area.

The Illinois Central passenger terminal at Roosevelt road is not only out of date but is very much out of the way, so much out of the way that the New York Central desires to transfer all its passenger trains from the I. C. station to the La Salle station. The Chicago and North Western passenger terminal at Madison street has an ideal location but its $30,000,000 cost is too large a load for only one railroad to bear.

When the I. C. absorbs the C. & N. W. its first move must be the construction of a four track noiseless elevated railroad on Clinton street from 16th street to Kinzie street to allow all I. C. passenger trains to reach the Madison street terminal, transforming it into the I. C. & N. W. Union station. The south front of the Madison street terminal will be removed and all station tracks will be extended across Madison and Monroe streets to a "ladder" track connecting with the Clinton street railroad at the north line of Adams street. Thus the Madison street terminal will be transformed from an old-fashioned stub-end station into a modern through station with trains entering at either end and leaving from the opposite end.

This proposed I. C. & N. W. Union station will also be a suburban union station as the I. C. electric service will be extended on the C. & N. W. to Waukegan, Geneva, Crystal Lake, and Lake Geneva. This consolidation of the I. C. and C. & N. W. will thus create the nucleus for a real rapid transit system for Chicago in which the I. C. high speed electric trains will be extended on all our railroads to all parts of the Chicago district.

THE PRICE OF MILK.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—I read your editorial in the early edition of Aug. 12, in which I noted an error to which I wish to direct your attention. The error consisted in the inference that my client, the Douglas Dairy company, in its complaint against the union and its officers, alleged that it was selling milk at 9 cents a quart, 4 cents less than the price at which the larger dairies were vending this product. The complaint made no such allegation, and the mistake was evidently due to my statement apart from the court record of the case, that a reasonable price for the product, considering cost of production, plus a reasonable profit for the producer, the present wage scale for labor, and a reasonable profit for the processor, was 9 cents a quart. Otherwise, I heartily agree with your editorial.

I wish to add to your editorial the following: That the labor union involved in this litigation has done much to benefit its members, and is deserving of the highest commendation, but I would strongly advise that its officers keep singly and solely to its duty in this regard and not venture into the field of competitive business enterprise, nor seek to assist some corporations to the detriment of others who can process and distribute this product to the consumer at a much less price and maintain the union wage scale.

I strongly advise this as one who for many years has been in and out of my political party, a strong advocate of labor unionism, collective bargaining, industrial legislation for its protection, and minimum wage and maximum hours of service, and who has represented labor unions professionally. EDGAR J. COOK.

NOT A WAR NURSE.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—An item recently appeared in the newspapers relative to the death of a Mrs. Helen Gray on July 15 at 6349 Maryland avenue, with the statement that she was a war nurse and unless kin claimed the body it would be buried in Potter's Field.

The American Legion had the body finger printed by the bureau of identification. These finger prints were verified through the bureau of identification in Chicago, the national bureau of identification and the war department at Washington, D. C. The latter advised that the finger prints did not coincide with those of any one recorded in the war department, nor have they any record of a Mrs. Helen Gray, Mrs. Helen Murphy [by which name she was also known] or Susan Helen Davis [her maiden name] having served as a war nurse.

The United States government provides a fund of $100 for the burial of destitute war veterans, and had it been proved that deceased was in the service her burial would have been taken care of. The American Legion would have been glad to furnish a military funeral for this woman had she been entitled to it.

Subsequent to the investigation her mother was located and gave her proper burial.

AT THE POOL.

Chicago, Aug. 11.—My daughters, 6 and 9, received the shock of their lives at Cermak pool. A nudist camp has nothing on the private clean pool with women and children all in line for inspection together. Why keep your youngsters pure and sweet and then take them swimming where they have to see women nude all around? Would you think of taking them to a fan dance?

Santa Barbara Girl Engaged to Chicagoan

BY JUDITH CASS.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE MEEKER LEWIS of Santa Barbara today are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Samuel A. Culbertson II., son of Mrs. Wallace F. Kirk of Chicago and of Craig Culbertson of New York.

Young Mr. Culbertson's attractive fiancée is visiting his mother and sister, Miss Babby Culbertson, in Lake Forest, where she is meeting all of their young friends at a series of parties. By coincidence, the dinner-dance that Robert F. Carr Jr. is giving tonight at the Shoreacres club for the California visitor will be made a doubly gay occasion by the romantic news.

Miss Lewis is spending a month with the Kirks. Mrs. Kirk will entertain for her toward the end of her visit, just before Mr. Culbertson returns to his studies Sept. 15 at the University of Virginia law school.

Miss Lewis is a member of the fashionable Spinsters club in Santa Barbara. She was educated at the Santa Barbara School for Girls and at Les Alleres in Lausanne, Switzerland and Mlle. Fontaine's in Cannes, France.

Mr. Culbertson prepared at the Choate school. No date has been set for the wedding, but it probably will not take place before next summer.

Governor Lowden At Summer Home.

Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden has gone from Oregon, Ill., to his summer home, Castle Rest, at Alexandria Bay in the Thousand Islands. Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Madlener Jr. and their children, Nancy and Lowden, are arriving at the resort today to visit Mrs. Madlener's father. Another son-in-law and daughter of Gov. Lowden, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Drake Jr., with John, Barbara, and George, have been visiting him.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McNally II. of Greenwich won first prize at the annual fancy dress ball held at the Thousand Island Yacht club recently. Carrying out the ball's motif of speed and travel, the McNallys, who are visiting his parents, the Andrew McNallys of Evanston, came dressed in authentic bicycling costumes of the Gay Nineties, complete even to a tandem bicycle.

The fields of the Oak Brook Polo club will be the scene during the next few weeks of the most concentrated outdoor polo activity in Chicago since 1929. Starting tomorrow is a tournament for the Oak Brook club, engaging four teams from the Chicago area and two from afar, the Huisaches of Texas, winners of the southwest circuit tournament, and the Fort Sill, Okla., team, the Rocky Mountain circuit champions.

Paul Butler is captain of the Rising Sun team, one of the four, including the Oak Brook, the Mandalays, and the 124th Field Artillery, which will be in competition from Chicago.

On Sunday, Aug. 22, the U. S. Polo association national intercircuit tournament will get under way, also at the Oak Brook club. Following this tournament the U. S. Polo association national twelve goal tournament will be held.

Harold N. Scotts Home from Cruise.

The Harold N. Scotts have returned from a cruise in Alfred P. Sloan Jr.'s yacht off Newport, Cape Cod and Martha's Vineyard. While the yacht was anchored off Nantucket Island Col. and Mrs. Robert Stewart gave a cocktail party in their lovely Nantucket home for the Scotts, Mr. Sloan, and the other guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O'Gara, who accompanied the Scotts east, are remaining in Southampton, N. Y., for a month. Now that Mr. and Mrs. Scott are at home, they are spending weekends as usual at the Chicago Golf club in Wheaton.

Mrs. Chester Morris and her daughters, Miss Jane and Miss Suzanne Morris, are leaving by motor today to spend three weeks in the east. They are bound for the Chateau Frontenac in Quebec, with plans to stop at all antique centers.

Joseph T. Ryerson boarded a Sky club plane for New York yesterday noon.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore A. Shaw Jr., who returned by air Wednesday from California, left yesterday for a holiday in Canada.

Mrs. Leo M. Nicolson has left for New York to visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Orson Welles, and friends in Easthampton and Nantucket before returning next month. Miss Caryl Nicolson is at Desbarats, Ont.

The John Stensons are spending a few days at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York en route to Chicago from a six weeks' motor trip in England and on the continent.

Mrs. Frank P. Graves Sees Daughter Sail.

Mrs. Frank P. Graves returned Wednesday from a short jaunt to New York, where she bid au revoir to her daughter and grandson, Mrs. Henry C. Bartholomay and young Henry, who sailed on the Bremen for a holiday abroad.

Miss Mary Nixon has arrived from Florence, Italy, and is staying through the month at Bonnie Brae, Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson's home in Lake Forest. Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin Jr. and her three little girls have come from Greenwich, Conn., to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, in Lake Geneva.

Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds has come from her home in California to spend the month in Harbor Point, Mich., with her parents, the W. C. Scudders of St. Louis. In September she will visit in Lake Forest before going back to Pasadena.

The Lamson H. Dates sailed last week for a delayed summer holiday in Hawaii. Mrs. Fowler McCormick has left for her summer home in northern Quebec.

The Thomas S. Tylers have returned from three months in Washington and are staying with his parents, the Ralph M. Shaws.

Sunday Paper to Have Good News of Party

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

My, but the weeks fly past quickly, don't they, boys and girls?

It seems to me that I scarcely have my guests selected for one party, when the mailman comes hurrying along with letters from boys and girls who want to come to the next one.

Better not miss THE TRIBUNE tomorrow, children, because, as usual, it has a double dose of good news for boys and girls. First of all, it will contain a list which will make 100 boys and girls shriek with delight, because when they find their names printed they'll know they've been selected as my guests at our little theater party.

They're coming with me to see the Jack and Jill players in "A King's Sneezes" and they can consider themselves lucky because I had quite a time trying to select my guests from so many, many good letters.

The second piece of good news for you will be at the very top of the column. It's the announcement of our next party, and if you don't think it's pretty fine, I miss my guess, and I've been giving parties for so many boys and girls for so many years that I don't think I'm wrong this time.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

One of the nicest gift items you can find at the moment [gift for yourself as well as your friends] is a cunning little "travel pack" of eau de cologne. The box is in the design of a smart little trunk, gayly striped in red, white, and blue, with gilt straps and bindings. There's even a businesslike little tag, labeled "This side up."

Inside is a generous bottle of a perfectly lovely cologne, made by a house that's done more than any other to make Americans appreciative of the virtues of this cool, refreshing liquid so beloved for decades by Europeans.

This cologne has a delightful and delicate fragrance, plus all the champagnish quality which makes a cologne a joy in hot weather. The travel pack idea is a good one; travelers will enjoy their supply of cologne more than any other one possession. There's nothing quite like it for making you feel fresh and fragrant when you're all weary and travel-dusty.

This isn't an expensive gift item, but it's awfully smart. Be sure you get one for the girl you know who's shortly leaving for school.

The same house has a de luxe soap, too, that should make a charming gift. The soap isn't the kind or of a price you'd leave lying around the bathroom for the kids to scrub with. It's strictly a fancy soap—and how you'll love it! Each cake is beautifully cut; the fragrance is exquisite—and each cake bears the "Made in France" stamp.

There is a bath size, a hand size—and lovely little boxes of either six or twelve cakes in a guest size.

Show Products of Lake Geneva's Fertile Gardens

BY BETTY BROWNING.

"Grand Flower Show," proclaimed the banner that hung above the street near Lake Geneva's little Horticultural hall, and visitors who entered the low stucco building yesterday afternoon found just that.

The Lake Geneva Garden club's 33d annual show, which opened yesterday and continues today, offers the wealth of flowers, fruits, vegetables, and dairy products that customarily are garnered from the fertile Wisconsin hills. There are a number of innovations, too, that Mrs. William Nelson Pelouze and her committee have introduced this year.

The shadowy main hall with its raftered ceiling has been transformed into a brilliant flower garden, with beds of massed cut flowers hedged in by walls of evergreen. Twin foci of the garden are the circular bed flaming with zinnias and marigolds that won Mrs. Daniel Peterkin a blue ribbon, and the white sculptured figures of a girl and faun lent by Mrs. Robert Tarrant that stand admiring their reflections in a pool edged with African violets against a cool green background.

In the sunlit patio beyond tea is served under a marquee, with waitresses in Alsatian costumes flitting around the orange tables. A gay note introduced by Mrs. Charles E. Peace is Su-lin's toy cart, a gay yellow affair surmounted by two giant pandas and hung with a variety of toys that draw a swarm of children.

The surrounding arcades shelter exhibits of vegetables, the finest in the history of the show, every one agreed, because the exhibition is held later than usual this year.

For her basket of vegetables Mrs. Arthur W. Wakeley received first prize and an award of $5, which she turned back to the show committee. All proceeds, including those from the auction of all the exhibits during the closing hours of the show this afternoon, will be divided between the Lake Geneva Garden club, the Lake Geneva Garueners' and Foremen's association, and Holiday house at Lake Geneva, probably the oldest fresh air camp in the country.

Mrs. Simeon B. Chapin was given a special award for her wheelbarrow of vegetables, and Mrs. Frederick I. Clifford's yellow wheelbarrow, holding four baskets, won her second prize.

One of the amusing features of the show was Miss Eugenie Smith's shadow box depicting a typical country scene of her native Russia. A little path led up to a tiny peasant house of celery with a roof of onion tops, past a well of miniature corn ears with a radish bucket. Miss Smith is a guest of Mrs. Edith Kohlsaat. Other prize winners in this class were Miss Ruth Jeffris of Janesville, Wis., and Mrs. Earle J. Zimmerman.

The moment Mrs. Willard W. Jaques, president of the Garden club of Illinois, had finished judging the exhibits, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay drove over to the Lake Geneva Country club with her and Mrs. Hugh A. Foreman and Mrs. Bentley G. McLoud of Kenilworth, who assisted in judging. Here luncheon was served to out-of-town visitors and so many came from surrounding resorts and from Chicago, the North Shore, Hinsdale and Elgin, that the porch overlooking the lake was crowded to overflowing.

Mrs. Bartholomay, who helped find places for several late arrivals, wore two purple orchids with white dress and matching hat and jacket of green and white print.

Mrs. Bartholomay's daughter, Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne, won prizes for two shadow box arrangements, one making use of grapes which won first place, and another with a swallow tail butterfly perched on white cosmos.

Profile Must Rule Choice of a Coiffure

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

There's much, much money going into coiffure design these days. If you're lucky and fall into the hands of an artist hairdresser you will enjoy the benefits of his or her clever designing. If not, there's one rule we would advance as an absolute "must" for women themselves to observe. It is that you let your profile govern the line and design of coiffure adopted.

If women did this one wouldn't see a thick chinned or receding chinned woman with a weight of hair, either a long, heavy bob or heavy chignon around the neck and ears. One wouldn't see the prominent chinned one with hair drawn back tight and up high to give further prominence to the chin. One wouldn't see a prominent nose made more prominent by skinned-backed hair. One wouldn't see a lot of coiffure mistakes that are made because women are contented if it looks all right to them from the front view only.

If the chin is the receding type interest in the coiffure should center on the top of head, with soft curls over the forehead and behind the ears. If the chin is prominent the hair is better dressed full at the base of the neck to soften and balance the line. If the nose is prominent the middle part is not good. A low side part is better and fullness in the back to soften the hard chin line is needed.

But it is difficult for one who is not a first hand observer to determine such tricks of symmetry and balance as will bring out the beauty of the head and its hairdress. Only know that the profile dominates the choice. Fashion may suggest all manner of fillips, but fundamentally the success of your coiffure depends upon symmetry, line, and balance.

In your profile study watch that the head outline is kept shapely and clear.

BY ANNA NANGLE.

Alexander Korda offers glimpses of the Russian revolution in the ranks of both the Whites and the Reds—Robert Donat, always worth watching, and Miss Marlene Dietrich in costumes which enhance her fragile beauty.

Mr. Fotheringill, an English writer living in Russia, is ordered from the country because the tone of his works does not please the imperial government. He enlists as a secret service agent for England and is ordered to join the revolutionaries working to overthrow the czar, assuming the name and the passport of Peter Ouranov. He is warned that he cannot appeal to England if he encounters trouble. Encounter it he does, and is exiled to Siberia as a political prisoner. On his return to Russia he is greeted as a hero and made an assistant commissar.

When Reds seize the luxurious palace of Countess Alexandra, Peter is ordered to take her to Petrograd for examination and to save her from the violent, plundering army.

His heart rules his head when they encounter the White army, and he releases her to them for her protection. She is royally received, and this is where the famous bath scene comes in. I understand it has been censored, and as it now stands it shows only that the countess is most wasteful and inconsiderate in her lavish use of soap, which is scarce during war time. She must have used six bars to achieve the suds in her tub.

At a gala dinner for her the officers get royally drunk, and she is soon a prisoner of the Reds again. Once more Peter rescues her, and loses his status with the revolutionists. The two refugees fall in love and have numerous adventures before the happy ending—which is a bit far fetched and requires Mr. Donat to do a little Tom Mix stunt.

Miss Dietrich's eyebrows seem to have come down about an inch, and it helps considerably. Her costumes are most effective and occasionally she breaks away from her two stock expressions, a wide-eyed smile and an equally wide-eyed, wooden stare.

Mr. Donat is excellent as always, and his finished performance is the main attraction of this film. I couldn't figure out why they went to such trouble to make him an English agent—as far as I could see, he was of no actual service to his country and never contacted headquarters after his appointment.

The war scenes are well done and their point seems to be that men are men and Reds and Whites were equally inhuman and overbearing when in power. The film starts jerkily, but after it settles down is ably directed and photographed. Sets are appropriate and the entire cast is well selected.

There is much that is heavy and tragic, and I thought it ran a bit too long, but on the whole "Knight Without Armor" is fairly intriguing.

THE woman who drives a car with the license No. 781-589 doesn't have to read "Live Alone and Like It." As she stopped for the trafic light at North avenue a few mornings ago she and the other occupants of the car attracted notice. She was a pleasant looking woman, probably in her early thirties. A green parrot was in a huge cage on the seat beside her. She spoke to him and he blinked happily. Then her hand went up to her left shoulder and scratched the whiskery face of a great black cat that lay on the back of the seat with his paws over her shoulder. As she scratched, his yellow eyes narrowed in contentment. The lights changed and she started up and soon they were lost to view, as contented a family as one would wish to see.

Park Twilight Ideal Set for Negro Piece

BY CECIL SMITH.

In the course of the concert in Grant park last evening by Hans Lange and the Chicago Symphony orchestra, William Grant Still's "Afro-American" symphony played a new rôle. As night fell the panorama of buildings facing Michigan avenue and the park seemed to lose their third dimension and to become a huge theatrical backdrop of silhouetted angles and foreshortened lights.

For a quarter of an hour the thousands gathered near the band shell saw a remarkable natural pageant as the night fell in a dramatic fadeout no theater stage could hope to equal.

Many times as I have sat in Grant park this summer I have realized that one does not have to seek the solitude of the country to experience the majesty of nature. Last night, however, it all seemed particularly lonely, even though there were a vast crowd of us all together.

And in the enfolding loneliness of nightfall Mr. Still's nostalgic, sentimentally yerning music found an astonishingly appropriate function in serving as incidental music. I never really approved of this music before, and I think I never shall again until it is once more played in Grant park at the time of dusk and darkness.

Beside the impressive accident of an unimportant piece of music finding an important place in the world, the rest of the concert seemed a bit humdrum, although most of it was well played. The program contained, in addition to the Still symphony, the overture to Smetana's "The Bartered Bride," Tschaikowsky's "Nut-Cracker" suite, the Dohnanyi suite, Opus 19, Wagner's "Prize Song" from "Die Meistersinger," with the solo played by John Weicher, and Strauss' "Emperor" waltzes.

Mr. Lange conducted the Dohnanyi suite with gratifying respect for its curving, personalized melodies. The merry little "Nut Cracker" suite fared less well, especially in the waltz, taken with a metronomic rigidity that robbed it of all charm and gracefulness.

Horsburgh, a resident of the rectory at Holy Name cathedral, Chicago, is archdiocesan director of the Propagation of the Faith society, and took to Pope Pius XI. a report on mission work. The Rev. Chinese Robes Remain Serene Despite a War

BY RHEA SEEGER.

A shop that is serene, cool, and unhurried has beautiful Chinese and Japanese treasures in antiques, china, culture pearls, and breathtakingly beautiful vases and bowls. And just as intriguing are the exquisite fashioned kimonos, robes, and pajamas to be used for decorative lounging and sleeping.

The smooth tailored robes of chalk white cotton challis are priced way under five dollars while they last. . . . These have the colorful embroidered dragon on the back, narrow piping around the collar, cuffs and pocket, with a stunning design on the chest pocket as an extra bit of the detail. The embroidery and bindings may be scarlet, blue, or black.

The same robe ideas are found in fuji silk, a material that wears and tubs for years. The colors are luscious—imperial yellow, old blues, and turquoise and deep dark blues and tobacco browns for travel.

Cotton coolie coats with stunning color contrasts in big prints make ideal beach or garden coats. The colors are soft but not pastel or powdery, the blues and beige and the rose quartz with beige being especially effective.

Long printed cotton kimonos in willow-ware blue with white prints are stunning and cool for summer house lounging. The patterns are modernistic enough to go with anything, yet remain as remote and cool as any Japanese print.

Silk pajamas can be matched to tailored robes while you wait, or selected separately. Silk kimonos with the design inside as well as outside can be worn to suit your morning whim.

And all this silk stuff launders like linen and wears unbelievably long. Tiny silken frogs and loops of contrasting color and other details keep them definitly Japanese.

For gifts . . . see the beautiful hosiery or handkerchief cases of lively colorful brocades, with clever slip fasteners of carnelian, jade, or rose quartz. These are priced around three dollars for the handkerchief cases and a bit more for the hosiery cases.

Hang the Cost, Warner Motto for 'Tovarich'

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Jacques Deval, the French playwright who does all his writing in longhand, took four weeks to write his outstanding play, "Tovarich." This is regarded as fast work, particularly in Hollywood, where it is taking Warner Brothers' studio a good deal longer than four weeks to put Deval's stage hit about the refugee Grand Duchess Tatiana and her impoverished consort, Prince Mikhail, into celluloid under the new title, "Tonight's Our Night."

In the meantime Deval is working at another studio here and not worrying a bit about "Tovarich," its change of title, or Warner Brothers' other difficulties which in the case of this film have proved weightier than expected.

The picture went into production July 7. It will be finished some time in September. Ordinarily pictures don't take that long to make; twenty-eight days to six weeks is the usual time budgeted by a studio. But "Tovarich" has been one of Producer Jack Warner's favorites ever since he saw the play in London and bought it from Gilbert Miller, the producers, next day, on an agreement which eventually cost the studio $140,000.

An extra amount of time has to be spent on a light comedy of such importance as "Tonight's Our Night" because of care needed for casting, script and settings. Comedy can "miss" more easily than drama can. It took Casey Robinson, Warner's ace scenarist, three months to write the film script.

The casting took time. Scores were interviewed and screen tested before all agreed on Claudette Colbert, who had been Warner's white hope for the grand duchess rôle all along; Charles Boyer as Mikhail; Melville Cooper of the stage run as Banker Dupont, and Isabel Jeans for the banker's wife. Basil Rathbone was the choice for the soviet commissar, Gorotchenko.

Miss Colbert and Boyer, who play Russians, are both of French nationality. Cooper and Miss Jeans, who play French people, are English. Rathbone, who plays another Russian, is English. For director, the studio gathered an authentic Russian touch in Anatol Litvak, who had previously directed the sensational "Be Mine Tonight" in France.

Anton Grot designed the settings for "Tonight's Our Night." The largest setting is a copy of the Belleville section in Paris, covers two acres and cost $60,000 to build. Its erection required four weeks. Three story buildings, complete to detail, surround a courtyard paved with thousands of real cobblestones.

Fully stocked wine shops, book stores, clothing stores, boot shops, and cheese shops open on the streets. George Hopkins, the "set dresser," used hundreds of bottles of real champagne for the wine shops. To light the effects for the night shots, the same amount of current was used which is needed to illuminate McCook, Neb.

Charles Land, who has photographed most of Miss Colbert's recent hits, had to be brought in to be her cameraman again, after two other cameramen started and left the film.

Travis Banton, who is Miss Colbert's dress designer at her home studio—Paramount—also had to be borrowed at a bonus by Warner's because of Miss Colbert's insistence. Anita Louise, who plays the du Pont daughter, and Miss Jeans preferred the Warner designer, Orry-Kelly, for their Paris creations.

"Find This Girl"

BY ROY VICKERS [Copyright: 1937: By Roy Vickers.]

SYNOPSIS.

Bessie Mersand, a nurse, is acquitted of the charge of administering a fatal dose of medinal to an elderly patient. Present at the trial were Gwynneth Bentley and her lover, Roy Gleason. Bessie's husband is an invalid. On leaving the courtroom Bessie meets Jim Watkin, an architect, who offers to help her if needed. Gwynneth Bentley arranges to meet Bessie, in a town near London where she is living under the name of Mathews, and gives her a job caring for Mr. Bentley. Gwynneth turns over to Bessie some medinal tablets, which she said her doctor prescribed for her, and asks her to dole them out to her one at a time. Gwynneth gives Bessie a day off in London and asks her to obtain a duplicate key to her jewel case. Bessie meets Jim Watkin, who goes with her to call for the key, which he recognises as a key to a wall safe.

INSTALMENT VI.

CAT AND MOUSE.

As he spoke, Watkin stopped a passing taxi and almost lifted Bessie into it.

"You don't know anything about a wall safe, I suppose?" he suggested as they drove.

"Yes, I do. There's one in the library."

"O!" Watkin seemed somewhat dashed. "What does Bentley keep in it, do you know?"

"Yes. I've seen inside it." She told him about the incident of the dagger.

Three minutes later Bessie was being whirled into an imposing building that was the home of the Universal Press Clippings agency.

"Every time I do something noteworthy—which is far oftener than you will ever believe—these people give me a little sheaf of clippings from every newspaper that has had the good taste to write about it." He waited for her approbation. "They've got me filed," he added. "And a good many others too. Quite possibly they've got a file of these Bentleys of yours.

"Alfred Bentley, Uplands, Suddington, Surrey. Retired planter, India. I want all you can let me have as quickly as possible, please," he said to the clerk and conducted Bessie to a desk where they sat and waited.

Presently a boy slammed a large envelope on the desk. Out of the envelope tumbled a number of newspaper cuttings. Watkin studied them.

"A respectable planter in India. Hm! There's a picture of his getting married. And Uplands is O. K."

While Bessie looked at a photo taken fifteen years ago of Gwynneth in bridal dress, Watkin was busy with a telephone and presently was speaking to Scotland Yard.

"Detective Inspector Rason? This is Jim Watkin—the man who came and consulted you before he made his plans for your beautiful new wing. . . . Look here, old boy, you owe me one and you know it." He gave the Bentleys' address in Surrey and their former address in India and Gwynneth's maiden name. You can find out in a few minutes if you people have got anything against the woman. I'll hang on."

For nearly ten minutes he kept the receiver to his ear.

"Nothing at all? . . . Not your fault. Thanks, old man!"

He turned to Bessie with a rueful expression on his face.

"There's nothing whatever known against the Bentleys," he said miserably.

"What! Is he coming again?" demanded Mr. Bentley irritably.

"Why should you want to know anything against them?" she countered. "They're perfectly delightful people."

"I expect I've bitten over it," he admitted. "That's because I can't help worrying about you."

"There's nothing to worry about me."

"Then I shall worry about when I can see you next," said Watkin gravely, "and how the devil I'm going to stop dreaming about you in the meantime."

For three weeks the routine of Uplands passed uneventfully. In those three weeks Bessie spent quite a considerable number of hours thinking about Jim Watkin. He was vital and exciting. In his presence life seemed to whizz by in a happy rush. It would soon be a month since she had seen him. She wished Gwynneth would send her to London again or, alternatively she contemplated asking for an afternoon off.

Now and again she had surprised a look in Gwynneth's eyes which puzzled and discomfited her. It was a queer look unlike anything she had seen in human eyes. Yet she had seen that same look somewhere before. In the eyes of a cat, playing a mouse.

As she formed the thought Bessie laughed at herself. It was too ridiculous. Gwynneth was always so kind.

Three times a day Bessie took Mr. Bentley's tray from the hands of the parlor maid. Every second night Gwynneth asked for a medinal tablet and received one.

Roy Gleason continued to embarrass her a little, though his manners were unexceptionable. When Gwynneth was about he took no notice of her. But when Bessie was alone with him he attempted awkward gallantries of speech. On his second visit she came as nearly as she could to giving him a hint that her interest was engaged elsewhere. But it seemed to make no difference.

There were slight changes. One of them was that she saw rather less of Gwynneth and rather more of her patient. Once she offered to read to him and he liked it so much that she frequently renewed her offer. Though they had few interests in common, a comradeship sprang up between them. Now and again he was on the verge of confiding in her. Tactfully she managed to head off the confidences for she had guessed that they concerned Gwynneth.

That was the one thing she held against Mr. Bentley—that he was unappreciative of Gwynneth. Every time Gwynneth spoke of her anxiety for her husband Bessie believed her.

"I've asked the Barnabys to come over after lunch tomorrow," said Gwynneth one afternoon. "They can make a four at tennis with Roy and Bessie."

"What! Is he coming again!" demanded Mr. Bentley irritably.

"Just for the night, dear! He needn't be any nuisance to you."

Shortly afterwards Bessie went out into the garden. Gwynneth promptly returned to the subject of Roy Gleason.

"Hasn't it dawned on you that Gleason is very much interested in Bessie?"

"Then he's wasting his time. That girl has sympathy and intelligence. She wouldn't look at an empty-headed ass like that. And now, I suppose, you're going to tell me that I'm talking through my hat?"

But Gwynneth knew how to meet that kind of opposition.

"O no! I think you're partly right. And that's the trouble, Alfred. Aren't you being just a bit selfish with the girl—of course, without realizing it? She's becoming rather more than just a nurse to you, isn't she!"

"My dear Gwynneth, what the dickens do you mean?"

"O, I don't mean that I think you're making love to her! She wouldn't let you for a moment, even if you wanted to—which you wouldn't. But you talk to her a good deal. The society of an intelligent and older man is not too safe for a young girl. She may never want him to make love to her, but it unsettles her for younger men. She finds the younger men vapid by comparison."

"Good heavens!" exclaimed Mr. Bentley, genuinly astonished. "You don't mean to tell me that a man of my age—and an old crook at that—can possibly have any effect on a girl like that?"

"You never did realize that you're rather fascinating."

"Fascinating, eh!" snorted Bentley. He laughed bitterly.

"And you're turning her thoughts from Roy Gleason," continued Gwynneth. "It would be an excellent match for her and I'm sure she'll take to him if you let him have a fair field."

Bentley grunted and Gwynneth's quick intuition warned her that he did not wholly believe her. That meant that suspicion was not far off. And if he once came to the full suspicion that Roy Gleason was her lover, there could be no doubt that he would promptly alter his will and cut her off. And that would put Roy for ever out of her reach—for she knew that she could not live with him in comparative poverty.

There was, in fact, no time to lose and Gwynneth meant to lose none.

Several Good Cook Books on Market Now

BY MARY MEADE.

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune.]

There must be about as many cook books as filling stations. We encounter new ones at almost every bend in the long cooking highway. Some of them aren't reliable, some are just plain no good, and others, the majority, are pretty safe guides. I'd like to report briefly today on several of these safe guides.

One of them is a book for which many women have been waiting a long time. It's a beginner's cook book, recommended for girls, for brides, for maids, and also for women who have done a good deal of cooking, since there are new and original recipes in the book.

It's called the "Merry Mixer Cook Book," and is published by Frederick A. Stokes company, New York. Its author is Helen Robertson, who writes a cooking column for the Cleveland Plain Dealer. It is a fat book containing about 600 pages of recipes, written in simple, detailed style, and a good deal of helpful general information about the art and science of cooking. This book hadn't been released at the time I last wrote about cook books or it should have been included in the list recommended for brides.

Better Homes and Gardens magazine has a new cook book containing the best recipes tested in their famous "tasting-test" kitchen. I think the new book is an excellent one, and there is a good deal of room for expanding it, since it is in loose leaf form. The magazine carries each month recipes which may be clipped and inserted in the cook book. There are a number of splendid illustrations at the start of the various chapters, and there is also a good deal of general material on such subjects as nutrition, table setting, and the like. Meredith Publishing company, Des Moines, Ia., is publisher of the cook book as well as the magazine.

A smaller, red backed book, now in its fifth printing, has come recently to my desk and is worthy of recommendation. It is Ruth Wakefield's "Tried and True Recipes," published by M. Barrows & Co., New York. There are 200 pages of distinctive recipes which are favorites in a Massachusetts inn called Toll House, operated by the author, who is a dietitian and lecturer. This is not a general cook book, but the recipes are good, and they're reliable, what's more.

Inadvertently the name of the publisher of "The Cookie Book," reviewed in a former column, was omitted. The booklet is published by Culinary Arts Press of Reading, Pa. I hope that this amendment will divert orders for the book from coming into this office. We do not sell any of these cook books, nor do we have any interest in them except as good guides to cookery, worthy of recommendation to our readers. Book stores and department stores carry them, or they may be ordered from the publisher.

Our own booklets and pamphlets are listed together with their prices in almost every Friday's TRIBUNE.

Quilt of Floral Design Easy for Beginners to Make Sunflower and Rose Block.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Floral patterns lend themselves most admirably to applique work, and the "Sunflower and Rose Block" is no exception. The clear, precise outlines of the patches make the work attractive and easy for the beginning quilt makers. There are no two colors more harmonious than the golden yellow of the sunflower and the soft pink of the wild rose. This is a block which is set together to form an all over design of undeniable charm and beauty. The dainty ten inch squares are attractive alone but when a quilt composed of eight blocks across and ten block down, surrounded by a four inch border is finished and quilted in outline the lucky person has a masterpiece.

For Parties or Day Wear

FROCK FOR THE TEEN AGE.

Junior girls who go to a great many parties will enjoy this simple yet effective dress. The original is created in a soft silk stripe and the edging at square neckline, puffed sleeves, and hemline is lingerie ruffling. A wide sash of a harmonizing plain shade to match the ruffling graces the waistline, and a bunch of flowers [artificial or contributed by the teen age beau] is tucked into the sash. Prints are equally as effective as stripes for this model.

For back-to-school wear one might use the same pattern for a practical frock, creating it in woolen or a sturdy silk which cleans easily. The neckline, in this case, is high and round and is topped by a pert collar. The sleeves are long. Instead of ruffling one may use colored binding at both hemline and collar. A patent lether belt in a harmonizing shade should grace the waist.

Style No. 2858 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19 years. Size 15 requires 3 yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 39 inch contrasting and 3¾ yards of ruffling.

Warm Weather Often Makes Child Fussy

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1937: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Perhaps it's the weather.

Had you ever thought of that? Or aren't you weatherwise about the children, and yourself, too, for that matter?

Perhaps it's the weather that's responsible for the children being so irritable and fussy today. In any case, here are some thoughts in this general direction:

Heat, for instance, affects the nerves. It often brings with it a sense of confusion, mental confusion. It's wearing. It's tiring. And all this shows in the children's behavior.

To be sure, there's a great difference in children in this respect as there is in grownups, though children aren't conscious of the heat as we are, even when they feel it. Nevertheless, they are affected and must be guarded against overexertion and overexposure to the sun.

So the thing to do is to watch out for "hot weather friction" and prevent it as much as possible. The nice point is, however, that it's comfort, when things get to be at sixes and sevens, to know that it's just because the heat is "getting the children down," and not that something fundamental is wrong.

When a heat wave persists, be more physically quiet, seek some diversion to occupy the mind, indulge in cooling baths, and rest periods. Do make allowances for "naughtiness" and avoid issues. Just charge it up to the heat.

ENGAGEMENTS

WEDDING

The chapel at picturesque Northport Point, Mich., was the setting for the wedding on Aug. 7 of Miss Catherine May Griffin, daughter of Mrs. May N. Griffin of Chicago, to Lieut. Walter Gibson Gleye, son of Walter B. Gleye of Grand Rapids, Mich. The ceremony was performed at 4:30 o'clock by Dr. Dan F. Bradley. The bride's uncle, Augustus S. Newman of Chicago, gave her in marriage. Miss Marjorie Griffin was her sister's only attendant. A reception was held at the Newman summer home at Omena Point. Lieut. Gleye and his bride will be at home at Fort Sheridan after Sept. 12.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

THE QUESTION OF THE AGREED SUIT.

[Copyright: 1937: By Ely Culbertson.]

When one partner bids a suit, and the other partner raises it, that suit becomes the agreed suit. Lest there be any confusion when more than one suit has been bid and raised, the suit that was mentioned immediately before the asking bid is the agreed trump suit.

South	North	South	North	South	North
1♥	2♥	1♠	2♠	1♥	1♠
2♣	3♦	3♥	4♥	2♠	3♥

In each case the agreed suit is hearts.

The Asking Bid Rule.

The following simple formula makes it easy to distinguish between an asking [artificial] bid and a regulation bid which has the normal meaning of being prepared to play the hand in the suit named:

1. Some suit previously has been raised, thereby becoming the agreed trump suit.

2. Either partner makes a bid in a new suit at the level of four or higher. A new suit is one that has not previously been bid by either partner.

TODAY'S HAND.

North, dealer.
Neither side vulnerable.

SOUTH

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	1 no trump	2 clubs	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Double	Pass	Pass
4 clubs	Double [final bid]

"Dear Mr. Culbertson: Probably the bidding was sour, but let that go. At the moment my partner and I are fighting only about the play.

"West opened the ten of hearts and East played the queen. How would you play from point? As declarer I lost one diamond trick and three clubs, the dummy being ruffed down to a point where East's nine of clubs finally became high.

"Yours very truly,

"R. J. B., St. Louis, Mo."

The play of this hand is strongly indicated by the bidding. After taking East's heart queen with the ace, I would lead a low club toward dummy. When the king appeared from West I would take it for granted not only that I would find all the other vital honors on my right but that the club suit itself might not break.

West's return after the club king undoubtedly was a diamond. This I certainly would not finesse! I would play dummy's ace, then would cash the king and queen of spades to get them out of the way. My next play would be a second trump. East, on winning with the ace, would face this situation:

NORTH
♥ None
♦ Q 6 4
♣ J 10

WEST
♥ 9 8 5 4

EAST
♠ J 7
♥ K 2
♦ K J

SOUTH
♠ None
♥ J 6
♣ 8 7 4

The only fairly safe exit East could make would be the club. Winning in dummy, I would discard a diamond on the spade ace, ruff the spade, and lead my remaining diamond, then any play East could make would hand me the balance.

Obviously, when West won with the club king and played a diamond, you played dummy's queen and that was your undoing.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What is the correct opening bid on the following hand:
♠ A Q J 7 ♥ 9 5 ♦ K J 10 8 6 ♣ 8 6?
Answer: One diamond.

$500,000 OF UPS AND DOWNS

By CALEB

A ROBUST old gentleman was ushered into my office.

"I understand you are building ten new elevators here," he said. "I'm a bug on elevators. I like 'em—all kinds, freight even. And I want to know on what day your new elevators will be running. I'm going to be one of the first passengers. I hear these elevators almost have brains. Is that right?"

"Sit down," I said. "You're just the man I want to talk to. I've been thinking about those new elevators myself. I would like to tell an appreciative listener how smart they are."

I watched a beatific expression of anticipation come over the old man's face. He settled comfortably in his chair.

"First," I said, "before I get to the dramatic characteristics of the operation of these elevators, let me tell you some equally interesting but more static things.

"I learned just this morning that over twenty separate building trades were involved in installing these elevators. That, of course, meant employment for a great many Chicago men. Would you believe, for instance, that it has been so much work to install them that it would require two men twenty-five years to do such a job alone?

"Name some of the trades," said the old man, and he cocked an expectant ear.

"Structural steel fabricators and erectors, structural iron workers, bricklayers, plasterers, plumbers, steel setters, painters, carpenters, electricians, marble setters, elevator constructors, ornamental iron workers, sprinkler fitters, roof and sheet metal men, glaziers, cabinet workers, tile setters—and more! Moreover, the materials come from a wide area although most of them have been fabricated in Chicago. The marble, for instance, has come from Vermont and Tennessee, aluminum from Pennsylvania, motors from Pittsburgh, other materials from Ohio, and wood for the doors from abroad.

"This installation of two banks of five cars each represents a contract cost to Marshall Field & Company of over half a million dollars. Approximately half that amount was for field labor—that is, labor of installation. The other half of course was for the finished materials from various sources. And of course a high percentage of that cost is represented by labor which went into the making of finished materials."

"Mmmmmm," said the old gentleman. "But what about how they operate? What about how almost human they are in their 'intelligence'?"

Just then the telephone rang.

"Wait," I said "I am not through."

Mrs. Mary Daly (left) and Mrs. Alice Daly Reinertson, her predecessor, who pleaded successfully for release of Crayton D. Daly, arrested for being in arrears in paying alimony to first wife.

Seven men were freed from alimony row on Friday the 13th by Judge Philip J. Finnegan, when they promised to pay arrears in alimony. Six of the 13 prisoners, however, were sent back to complete their sentences.

Crayton D. Daly, 35 years old, 175 East 16th street, Chicago Heights, was freed at the request of his first wife, Mrs. Alice Daly Reinertson, 13301 Prairie avenue, to whom he owes $3,000 support money, and at the pleading of his present wife, Mary.

The six who joined Daly in freedom were: John Doyle, 6038 South Park avenue; Cosimo Anzalone, 2256 South Oakley avenue; Levi Zimmerman, 1741 Melrose street; George Exner, 15 North Kedzie avenue; David Schellhause, 7016 Wentworth avenue, and Arthur Schwall, 2443 Birchwood lane, Wilmette.

OPERA DIRECTOR'S KIN MAKES MARK IN VOICE TRYOUT

Hostess and Ex-Chemist Other S. Side Winners.

BY MARCIA WINN.

A tearoom hostess, a former paper mill chemist and the niece of the director of the Copenhagen Royal Opera house last night were acclaimed mezzo, basso, and soprano winners in the south side vocal preliminaries for the eighth Chicagoland Music Festival.

Miss Josephine Swinney, 5135 Blackstone avenue, who was born in a South Dakota log cabin twenty-five years ago and has entered "millions of singing contests" in the interim, won first place among fourteen mezzo sopranos. A slender, dark haired girl in a gay print dress, with matching print sandals, she is a hostess in the men's grill at Marshall Field & Co., attends the American Conservatory of Music at night and thought she was singing poorly last night because she couldn't hear her voice over the electric fans on the stage.

Devotes Career to Music.

David Austen, 6414 Kimbark avenue, who is also 25 and a student at the conservatory, won first place among the bassos. A tall young man with a square chin and flashing white teeth, he came to Chicago in 1934 from Green Bay, Wis., having given up a career as grocery clerk and paper mill chemist to study music.

Miss Jeanette Poulsen, 7250 Langley avenue, was working as a clerk last fall when her uncle from Denmark passed through Chicago. And she didn't know, until he told her, that she had any voice at all. But since he was Johannes Poulsen, director of the Copenhagen Opera house and on his way back there after having directed "Everyman" in Hollywood, she listened, stopped clerking, and began studying voice.

Wins Among 43 Sopranos.

Last night, John T. Read, Bernice Taylor, and Carl Craven, the judges, decided her dramatic soprano voice was so smooth, its quality so excellent, its timbre so true, that they selected 25 year old Jeanette, whose brown bangs hung into her eyes, as winner from among 43 sopranos.

Dorothy E. Baxter, 5711 Dorchester avenue, who at 22 teaches school in Norfolk, Neb., and once won a free trip to Europe with her voice, placed second among sopranos. She, too, was born in a log cabin, but in Idaho. Mrs. Mabel Malarcher, 6441 Vernon avenue, a colored woman who did a large washing before she came to the Chicago Woman's club to sing, won third place.

Careers Show Parallel.

Second and third place winners among the bassos study under the same teacher, started studying at the same time, and last night sang the same aria, "Il Lacerato Spirito," from Verdi's "Simon Boccanegro." James Olson, 6455 Kimbark avenue, University of Chicago graduate who now sells insurance, was the second place winner, and Irving Davidson, 5459 Ingleside avenue, graduate of Wilson Junior college and now a shoe salesman, took the third place.

Mrs. J. E. Oglesby, 7304 Oglesby avenue, a housewife, placed second among mezzos. Her singing last night was a poignant memorial tribute, although neither judges nor spectators knew it. She sang to one of her young sons, who was killed a month ago in an automobile accident. Gretchen Cox, 1442 East 59th street, a stenographer at Swift & Co., placed third.

CAPONE LOSES PLEA TO SLICE TERM AND FINE

Al Capone, once Chicago's chief hoodlum, lost his fight yesterday to slice one year and $20,000 from his sentence of 11 years in prison and $50,000 fine imposed on him by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson for violation of the federal income tax laws. Capone was sentenced on Oct. 23, 1931. He entered the Atlanta penitentiary on May 5, 1932, and was transferred to Alcatraz penitentiary on Aug. 22, 1934.

Judge Wilkerson denied a petition which sought, by claiming double jeopardy, to relieve Capone of serving one year in the Cook county jail and paying $20,000 in fines, which he received on misdemeanor counts in the indictment. Misdemeanor charges do not carry penitentiary sentences. On the felony counts Capone was sentenced to 10 years in prison and ordered to pay $30,000 fines.

Wife Fights Sale of Home.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Mrs. Mae Capone, wife of Al Capone, planned today a fight to prevent sale of her $40,000 Miami Beach home to satisfy government claims. Mrs. Capone filed a suit in federal court yesterday asking a restraining order.

HOUSE APPROVES CREATION OF NEW U. S. DEPARTMENT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The house today, by a vote of 285 to 75, passed a bill establishing a new department of the government, the department of welfare, headed by a secretary who will rank with other cabinet officers.

The bill also gives the President broad powers to reorganize other government establishments. Covering a major phase of President Roosevelt's proposals for executive department reorganization, it was sent to the senate. It is not given any chance of passage there unless the session is protracted beyond the Aug. 21 deadline.

Board Confirms Teacher's Ouster on Cruelty Charge

Waynesburg, Pa., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The five man school board of Whitely township confirmed tonight its dismissal of Mrs. Laura Elms Morris, teacher in the one room Kirby school, charging her with cruelty and teaching evolution.

Co-Eds' Purses Stolen from Auto in Evanston

While Ruth Renfrow of St. Louis, Mo., and Marianne Gould of La Salle, Ill., were attending summer school yesterday at Northwestern university in Evanston, a thief broke into their car and stole two purses containing $300 and $50 in checks.

ROOSEVELT KILLS WAR DEPARTMENT FLOOD MEASURE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt vetoed a bill for war department planning of flood control, power and conservation projects today, declaring he would present to congress next January a "comprehensive national plan" prepared by all federal agencies concerned.

The vetoed measure, Mr. Roosevelt said, is out of line with his "thoroughly democratic" proposal of June 3 to create seven regional planning authorities. It would make the war department the national planning agency, he continued, and ignore initiation of projects by local and regional units.

ROOSEVELT OFF ON YACHT FOR WEEK-END TRIP

Annapolis, Md., Aug. 13.—(AP)—President Roosevelt embarked on the yacht Potomac here tonight for a week-end cruise on Chesapeake bay. He will return to Washington Sunday evening, docking at the Washington navy yard. The yachting party included Senator Sherman Minton [D., Ind.], Mrs. Elinor Townsend of New York, two secretaries, and his military aid.

FARLEY TO QUIT JOB IN CABINET FOR MOTOR FIRM

Eager to Establish a Personal Fortune.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Postmaster General James A. Farley, whose resignation from the cabinet has been rumored for almost three years, definitly is preparing to step out of the administration to take an executive post in the automobile industry. Friends of the postmaster general today said he will accept the post of executive head of the Pierce-Arrow Motor corporation.

A. J. Chanter, president of the corporation, yesterday advised stockholders that "a person of national importance" will be asked to take charge of the reorganized corporation.

Seen as Confirmation.

This statement was considered tantamount to a confirmation because in the past Farley has denied reports that he was considering various offers where it later was learned the reports were without foundation. He also has been prompt in saying he had or would turn down various offers of the past.

It is known that Farley is interested not only in a salary but in a share in whatever business he enters, so that he will have something to leave to his family.

The Pierce-Arrow post carries such a provision. The new company is to issue 5,000 shares of its stock for delivery to the proposed chief executive and also permit him to share in 100,000 stock purchase warants.

Can Retain Political Jobs.

Friends said Farley's acceptance of the post will not be announced until after adjournment of congress.

Farley long has expressed a desire to leave the cabinet to rebuild his personal finances. As postmaster general he has lost $10,000 a year over his $15,000 salary, he has told friends. At present, friends say, he is in debt.

Shortly after the last campaign he was offered a $50,000 a year post by the Distilled Spirits institute, which he turned down.

G. O. P. LEADERS TALK INQUIRY ON SALES OF BOOKS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Republican leaders in congress today considered the raising of a special fund to finance an investigation of the sensational charges regarding Democratic national committee violations of the corrupt practices act made yesterday by House Minority Leader Bertrand H. Snell.

The house rules committee, which heard the charges, quickly voted to table Snell's resolution for an investigation, the nine Democrats on the committee overruling three Republicans.

Attorney General Cummings wrote Snell recently that he was conducting an "inquiry" in connection with the charges but Snell said he despaired of results from that investigation. He arranged, however, to send to the department of justice the huge stack of exhibits which he presented to the rules committee.

A fund to pay for the expenses of an investigation was considered after Snell had received a telegram from a citizen in Westerly, R. I., offering to contribute $500 to the fund and appealing to "all decent citizens of the United States to join in helping defray the cost of an investigation of this scandal."

LAY WILMETTE'S HARBOR WOES TO EQUIPMENT LACK

At a conference in Springfield yesterday on the unfinished dredging of Wilmette harbor by the contracting company of Julius Keg of McHenry, F. Lynden Smith, state director of public works, announced that Keg had defaulted in his work and that additional equipment must be provided.

The work on Wilmette harbor stopped Wednesday after only 3,500 cubic yards of sand had been removed from the harbor bottom. Keg had agreed to remove 40,000 yards and had hoped to do it in twenty days.

Keg stopped the dredging because, he said, he had been promised ample beach room in which to blow the sand removed from the harbor and that he had been limited. State engineers countered by saying Keg had plenty of room for sand disposal but not enough equipment. Mr. Smith held yesterday that the present equipment was insufficient. He will notify Keg's bonding company of the alleged contract default.

Duranty Writes About Russia in His First Novel

His Story of Peasant Is Packed with Reality.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"One Life, One Kopeck," by Walter Duranty. [Simon & Schuster, $2.50.] Published Thursday. August choice of the Literary Guild.

WALTER DURANTY, whose autobiography, "I Write as I Please," was one of the most exciting of all those thrilling narratives of foreign correspondents' clinches with life, now gives us his first novel, using the material he has gathered in the long years since that fateful 1920 when he went to Moscow as correspondent of the New York Times.

Walter Duranty.

He has chosen as a hero for his novel a peasant suckled as a baby by a pig, torn from that comforting embrace by his mother who cursed him for depriving a valuable piglet of its nourishment, a man who was never to forget his origin.

Ivan was a page boy in a great house when he was sent to Siberia for striking a policeman in defense of his young master in a brothel brawl. The young master had a few tongues clicked at him, but suffered no other punishment. The peasant lad was sent to exile. That was something else he never forgot.

When he escaped from Siberia the great war was just starting and so was the bolshevik party. He joined them both almost simultaneously, and the short, passionate months of the rest of his young life were spent learning to be a good bolshevik, and teaching others to be. He went back to the front as a provocateur, he organized an army, he ruled a large district . . . and he ruled his own hot blooded, passionate self with as iron a hand.

Mr. Duranty gives his readers a terrific impact of reality without apparent bias. You can't tell at the close of the book what he thinks about the soviet régime [or its precursor, bolshevism], but you know well what he saw.

Andre Gide's Opinion of the Soviets Alters.

"Return from the U. S. S. R." by Andre Gide. [Knopf, $1.]

Of the books which have come from the pens of travelers in soviet Russia, this volume by Andre Gide is most surprising. Andre Gide, as you know, is looked upon by many as the foremost of French writers. He has shown throughout his writing life a deep, almost fanatic passion to say what he believes. In 1933 he proclaimed publicly his "admiration and love" for the soviet régime. He went to Russia last summer as the most highly honored literary visitor of the year. Soviet hospitality was lavished on him.

But M. Gide found no such heaven as his dreams had pictured. He was deeply upset by the almost complete absence of great intellectual and creative work in present day Russia [once intellectually rich, so teeming]. He found not only no freedom of thought but a compulsory comformity which utterly destroyed freedom. "I doubt whether in any country in the world, even Hitler's Germany, thought is less free, more fearful [terrorized], more vassalized," he writes.

"Return from U. S. S. R." must be a terrible shock to soviet Russia, which had looked upon M. Gide as its great French adherent.

Feuchtwanger Sees with Different Eyes.

"Moscow, 1937," by Lion Feuchtwanger. [Viking, $2.] Published last Friday. August choice of the Book Union.

Partly in refutation of Andre Gide's book—which Lion Feuchtwanger read before he wrote his own—but mostly as a record of his recent visit to Moscow "described for my friends," the author of "Jew Suss" and other great novels gives us "Moscow, 1937."

Herr Feuchtwanger found Moscow the best of all possible worlds. Discomforts, he assures us, are within a very few years to be replaced by comfort; political and social serenity he finds already an established fact.

Unlike those writers about Russia who have been accused of not being able to see the forest for the trees, of misjudging an ideal because the sanitary arrangements are primitive, the food is little more than provender and a traveler had best take his own sheets, Herr Feuchtwanger seems not to see the trees for the forest.

Book Views in Brief

Sprightly Novel from a Frenchman's Pen.

"The Scandals of Clochemerle," by Gabriel Chevallier, translated from the French by Jocelyn Godefroi. [Simon & Schuster, $2.50.]

When the mayor of Clochemerle, a little wine growing town in France, decided to erect a comfort station on the main street he was motivated by political ambitions. He expected trouble but he could not foresee the local disasters and nation-wide intrigues which were to develop because of the location of the unassuming little building.

The comfort station affected the lives of all the residents of the town; it led to a shakeup in the French ministry, and broke up a Geneva peace conference. Even though it was destroyed in an explosion, its memory lived on. This is a sprightly tale, excellently translated. S. M. K.

Captain Kidd Emerges in a Good Biography.

"Captain Kidd and His Skeleton Island," by Harold T. Wilkins. [Liveright, $3.]

Unless the notorious Capt. William Kidd was a practical joker with an unusually peculiar brand of humor, Harold T. Wilkins stands a fair chance of making more of a fortune out of the usual piratical weakness for burying gold than he does from royalties on his new book.

While compiling this entertaining biography of the world's best known buccaneer, Mr. Wilkins ran across four different charts of the island, where Kidd is supposed to have buried his treasure. These were hidden in secret drawers in the pirate's various chests. The author claims to have the latitude and longitude and announces his intention of going out and digging it up.

If you like piratical lore you'll enjoy Mr. Wilkins' comprehensive biography of the widely known Kidd who, modern research has proved, wasn't as black as he was painted. A. C.

New Mexico Pictured in Fascinating Study.

"New Mexico's Own Chronicle," by Maurice G. Fulton and Paul Horgan. [Banks Upshaw, $3.50.]

From a mass of legends, folklore, history and fragmentary writings about New Mexico, Maurice G. Fulton and Paul Horgan have built a fascinating mosaic—the story of one of the most interesting and little known regions in America. Their two objects were to make the chronicle authentic and to make it entertaining reading. They have succeeded well in the latter certainly, and there is every indication that they have succeeded also in the former. C. L.

ALL-STAR FOOTBALL TEAM STARTS PRACTICE TODAY

COACHES MAKE PLANS TO STOP PACKER PASSES

Plays to Be Given at First Drill.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The College All-Star football team will assemble at 3 o'clock this afternoon at Dyche stadium for its first practice in preparation for its game against the Green Bay Packers at Soldiers' field on Sept. 1. While a few of the members of the All-Star squad will not arrive at Northwestern until tomorrow, the majority of the 37 players are expected to be ready for the first call. Twenty had checked in yesterday.

It was the consensus of Head Coach Charles [Gus] Dorais and his assistants, who met yesterday at the Palmer house, that the squad should be organized as soon as possible. Equipment will be issued this morning. Lockers will be assigned, and at the first practice the fundamental plays will be given to the boys whose two week task is to prepare for their game with the professional football champions.

Coache. Discuss Problems.

The coaching staf apparently is intensely serious about the work confronting it. Their determination was evidenced yesterday in the conversation concerning personnel and the ideas for offensive and defensive tactics which were exchanged at the round table discussion.

This year's game, according to prediction of the coaches, will be wide open. The coaches know, of course, what they plan to accomplish and they also know what Green Bay has accomplished in winning the professional football championship with its famous forward passing duo, Arnie Herber and Don Hutson.

"You can say for us," Dorais remarked at luncheon as spokesman for Elmer Layden, Lynn Waldorf, and Bernie Moore, "that we'll give the boys every chance to play wide open football. The spectators naturally will anticipate a scoring game and that's our objective.

Aim to Please Fans.

"We want to win but we believe that a thrilling scoring battle is more to be desired than a closely protected margin which might insure victory but fail to measure up to the expectations of the fans."

Practices at Northwestern will be secret. With the largest All-Star squad ever assembled, adequate space for the teams to drill is a problem. The coaches do not wish interference from the hundreds of people who naturally would like to watch the workouts and this is the reason for the emphatic announcement that spectators will not be permitted within the enclosed field.

It is suspected also that the plans of the coaching staf are going to be protected from observation by Green Bay partisans. The work of the coaching staf will be as secret as it is possible to make it.

Phelan Arrives Today.

Jimmy Phelan of the University of Washington will arrive this morning from California by United Air Lines sleeper plane. He could not be present yesterday for the coaches' meeting, but he'll be ready for the first practice.

The coaches spent more than six hours going over plays, comparing notes on the abilities of the All-Stars, and recalling memories of those each had seen in action. At the same time Coach Waldorf turned in a written report of his observations of the Packers and their style of play. Part of it was compiled from discussions with professional players.

As might have been predicted the

WHITE SOX LOSE TO INDIANS; DROP TO FOURTH PLACE

Walks Big Factor in 7-3 Defeat.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 13.—The White Sox this afternoon tossed off a chance to go into second place in the American league's standings when they blew the opener to the fifth place Indians, 7 to 3. The Chicagoans plunked back into fourth place as a result of their failure against Mel Harder and associates.

Some of the blame can be attached to the fact that the Sox made only five hits off Harder. On the other hand, its rather hard for a team to keep keyed up day after day behind pitchers who can't find the plate with a compass. Take the case of Vern Kennedy today.

He walked the first man up five of the eight innings he pitched. Four of these strollers scored to supply Cleveland's margin of victory.

Indians Get Ten Hits.

The Indians scored only once without the aid of a pass.

True, the Indians socked 10 hits, including four by Julius Solters, but eight of these were made while Kennedy was trying to find the plate after walking the leadoff man. It was Kennedy's eighth loss of the year, one under his loss total of last season, in which he won 21 games. He's won 8 this year.

A wild throw by Sullivan was a boon to the Sox as they got the game under way. Hayes opened with a single to center. Kreevich then sacrificed, and because Sullivan threw the ball far past first Hayes got to third and Kreevich to second. Hayes scored on Walker's bouncer to Trosky and Kreevich got home while Lary was throwing out Radcliff. Appling flied to Solters.

Trosky Gets a Walk.

The second inning was the first in which Kennedy indulged his great passion for walking the first batsman. He passed Trosky, who promptly went to third on the first of Solters' hits, a single to right. Trosky scored while Campbell was forcing Solters. Hale sent a double play ball to Hayes, who committed the first of his errors by fumbling. Kennedy threw out Sullivan and struck out Harder.

Lary, first up in the third, got the familiar Kennedy encouragement. He walked, went to second on Kroner's out, and scored the tying run on Averill's single to center. Hayes fielded Trosky's double play ball, but this time threw it away, Averill

CHICAGO SETS YEAR'S HIGHEST SCORING MARK

Cincinnati Players Make 8 Errors.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Reds, who by their conduct are not adding to the good name of Cincinnati, reached a new high in big league burlesque and the first place Cubs attained a season's high in scoring yesterday. Presumably because they aim to please, the visitors provoked a series of snorts from 10,732 customers and a flock of women guests, by revealing eight errors. Meanwhile the Cubs concentrated on run production and finally triumphed by 22 to 6.

The feature act of the afternoon was a daffy third inning in which the Cubs went on parade and refused to settle down until fourteen had batted and nine had crossed the plate. Eight of them hit safely against Bill Hallahan and Joe Cascarella and the inning was made juicier as well as funnier by four Rhineland blunders. In the latter Alex Kampouris, who had just been given an automobile by local admirers, showed off with three bits of clowning, but there was no demand for the return of the four wheeled gift.

Root Replaces Parmelee.

Leroy Parmelee started for the Cubs but the inevitable caught up with him in a hurry and the spectacle wound up as victory No. 11 for Charles Root. The old timer had to get busy to halt a four run splurge in the second inning. The Cubs tied it in their half while Paul Derringer and some of his mates were suffering a spell of dizziness. Thereafter Root was perfect and the Cubs went on their way, not even quitting until they had put together a six run eighth inning sketch. This was done at the expense of Jake Mooty who was coaxed into the mêlée when Cascarella was spiked in the sixth.

While benefiting through all of the Reds' stumbling, the Cubs did enough hitting to earn their decision. They clipped four pitchers for 21 hits, all of them singles except two which were triples. Tops in the attack were Frank Demaree and Ken O'Dea with four apiece although the former earned an edge because he delivered one of the two extra basers. And all this was accomplished even with Billy Herman on the hospital list along with Rip Collins and Gabby Hartnett. Herman laid off because of his turned ankle but hopes to go back to work today.

The first of the series of jolts that forced Parmelee to surrender four runs as well as his job in the second was an emphatic double to left by Lombardi. Riggs singled to center but Lombardi stopped at third. Kampouris fanned, after which Myers singled through short, Lombardi scoring. Derringer drove a fly into right center for two bases, Riggs and Myers dashing home. G. Davis was set down on a fly to left but Walker singled and Derringer registered. Root then appeared and nailed Goodman on a fly to Marty.

Cubs Tie Score.

The Reds needed five hits for their four runs but the Cubs required only three to tie it in the same inning. An error made the difference. Demaree led off with a single to left, O'Dea walked and Jurges singled, Demaree scoring. Galan popped out and the inning might have ended if Myers hadn't fumbled Marty's probable double play ball. O'Dea counted on the error. Root fanned, Hack

Halas Warns of Green Bay's Pass Attack

[Head Coach, Chicago Bears.]

Down the years football has had some great passing combinations—Wyman to Baston of Minnesota, Walquist to Carney of Illinois and at Michigan Benny Friedman to any eligible receiver, and Harry Newman to somebody handy. The greatest combination of all will be on exhibit at the All-Star game. if you want the thrill of seeing superlative skill in throwing and catching be on hand to see Arnold Herber pass to Don Hutson.

Arnold Herber can hit a bushel basket at 60 yards. He can pass long or short with incredible accuracy, while husky opponents are closing in to knock him down the instant the ball leaves his hand. The Packers give him great protection, but in the end he always gets hit hard. That doesn't discourage him. Herber can take it all afternoon or all evening.

Don Hutson, then with Alabama, beat Stanford in the Rose Bowl by reason of his phenomenal pass receiving. He can take a ball over either shoulder. He can nab it going away or coming back, high or low.

That 17 to 14 Game.

Our own experience with Mr. Herber and Mr. Hutson has been very sad. Only once have we succeeded in stopping the combination completely and that was in an exhibition game on the coast early this year. How the Bears did it is a secret locked forever in the Halas chest.

And here's one for the book. In 1935 the Bears led the Packers, 14 to 3, with 3½ minutes left in the game. Then Curly Lambeau put Don Hutson back into the lineup. Don had had a bad bump earlier in the game.

Herber promptly threw a pass to Hutson, who ran 71 yards to a touchdown. In the open, after catching a pass, Hutson is as elusive a runner as you'll find in football. In that run to a touchdown he ran over Bears, through them, hurdled them, feinted and faded, using every trick in a ball carrier's répertoire.

We still had a 14 to 10 lead on the ensuing kickoff, but became butter fingered and lost the ball on a fumble. With our defense spread out against passes, George Sauer ran to our four or five yard line. Then Hinkle hit the line to set up the next Green Bay play. O, yes, it was a forward pass, Herber to Hutson. Hutson went out into the flat and cut back, took the ball in high and scored without being tackled. The Packers won, 17 to 14.

Two Men on Hutson?

Consequently, I shall watch the coming game with great interest, hoping the All-Stars' coaching board will reveal some miraculous way of stopping Herber and Hutson. The system will be useful to us during the regular season.

It is quite possible that the All-Stars will put two men on Hutson. If so, there will be occasions when he will serve merely as a decoy, thereby taking two men out of the play. So far as their effectiveness goes, then, those men might as well be over on the All-Star bench keeping Arch Ward company.

If they don't put two men on him it's—touchdown!

Marica Faces Hardest Test of Life Today

BY FRENCH LANE.

They've mapped out the most difficult chore of her racing career for Marica, the French Lick Springs mare, at Lincoln Fields this afternoon.

She will parade out to the post with 122 pounds on her back to run in the Francis Peabody Memorial handicap.

That is more weight than any of her rivals will be asked to pack. It is four pounds more than Deliberator, the speedy son of Wise Counsellor, owned by Fred A. Burton of Chicago, will be asked to tote to the starting gate.

A Switch from Last Week.

A week ago Deliberator was the favorite to beat Marica in the Crete handicap at 6 furlongs. Deliberator carried more weight in that race than Marica had on her back.

Deliberator finished nowhere. Marica was winging it out in front by a wide margin when the struggle ended. So in order to bring them closer together for the handicap this afternoon the big switch was made in the weights.

Despite the weight adjustments, Marica, one of the finest racing mares in the country, ruled as the favorite last night to win the mile dash of the Peabody Memorial. The odds against her were 2 to 1.

Dellor Second Choice.

Deliberator was not even the second choice. That post of honor went to the 3 year old Dellor, winner of the $20,000 Arlington handicap in his last racing endeavor. Dellor gets in with 110 pounds on his back because he is a 3 year old. The odds against him were 5 to 2. The Arlington handicap was at a mile and a quarter. Trainer John Goode believed the long test would not dull Dellor's speed for today's mile affair

Deliberator was the third choice at 6 to 1. Eleven were named overnight to go in the $2,500 race.

O, Happy Corners, Look.

Well, Arch, it sure looks like I started something when I mentioned Happy Corners, Wis., in a recent contribution. The name was selected entirely without forethought as typical of the rural community I wished to indicate and I don't suppose you even believed there was a place on earth like Happy Corners. And, folks, don't get the idea I have anything against Happy Corners. Some of the happiest memories of my life center around the bobsled parties to that destination on moonlight winter nights and the steaming hot supper that waited us at the journey's end. SOLAR HAWK WINS CALUMET PURSE IN LAST FURLONG

Beats Miss Dolphin and Virginia J.

Valdina farm stable's Solar Hawk, a 3 year old son of Sun Beau-Hawkshead, won the Lake Calumet purse at Lincoln Fields yesterday after staging a great rally in the final furlong.

Going down the backstretch he was sixth in the nine horse field. He picked up some ground on the turn but when the run down the homestretch started he still was two lengths behind.

He was the winner at the end of the 6 furlong tussle by a length and was drawing away from Miss Dolphin and Virginia J., which finished second and third, respectively.

The players of favorites took a severe thumping in the Hazelcrest purse when Morris Vehon's colt, Invincible, at less than even money in the betting, could finish no better than third. Strut, at $10 for a $2 ticket, was an easy winner. Oddesa Frank was second.

Witan finally made good for Billy O'Toole's Blue Ridge farm stable when he won the 6 furlong dash that opened yesterday's program. He had been stoutly backed and came up from behind to stage a runaway of it in the final stages.

Fantine, John Oliver Keene's filly which was left at the post in Thursday's fifth race, has been ordered to school by Starter Bill Hamilton. Seventeen horses are on the schooling list at present because of bad acting at the stall gate.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES—SECOND ACT CLIMAX

Marica Faces Stiffest Test of Life Today

Chicago Heights handicap, second of the three juvenile stakes to be run at the meeting. The Chicago Heights, fashioned for colts and geldings, drew an overnight field of eight and figured to be a wide open affair.

Though both the Valdina farms and Le Mar stock farm will be represented by an entry, the probable favorite for the five and a half furlong event is Co-Sport, which B. Friend acquired from the Calumet farm last month.

This son of Cohort and Sportress already holds the Lincoln Fields track mark for the distance at 1:04 4-5 and has showed greatly improved form during the last month.

To win his first stake, he will have to whip two stake winners, Lassator, which took the Prairie State at Washington park, and Mad Money, the Hyde Park stakes winner at Arlington.

Lassator and Mad Money will have running mates in Roy T., and Mar Le respectively. In addition to these, Joe Schenck, Knee Deep, and John Marsch's dark horse, Darky's Dream, will try for the prize.

WITAN, well up from the start and sent around the leaders gradually, easily shook off NIM in the final eighth and had something left. NIM, rushed to the front on the inside and kept under urging as he increased his advantage on the turn, could not withstand the winner, but held on fairly well. FLUKE saved ground throughout and began to weaken after about five-eighths.

Winner trained by owner. Went to post at 2:45. At post 4 minutes. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same.

SWEET SHOWNO, in close quarters early and taken to the inside when clear, was sent through a very narrow opening entering the stretch, continued to get through in the drive, and outfinished BRILLINT PLAY in the closing strides. Latter, a strong factor from the start and raced wide, responded to increased urging in the stretch and held on in determined fashion to the end, but was not quite good enough. PUDDIN, under strong restraint for about three-eighths and then rushed into a good lead, weakened in the last eighth.

WALTER MORTON, never a great distance back and kept on the inside for a half mile, went out badly while being swung to the outside, but came with good speed when straight and won without need of strong urging. HI-HUN, rated under restraint for a half mile, held on with good courage. TRANSPORT, lacking early speed and slow to respond, rallied in the final eighth and was going fastest of all in the closing stages.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse $800. Net value to winner, $600; second, $125; third, $50; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 2-5, :47 3-5, 1:01, 1:08. Two dollar mutuels paid: Strut, $10.00 straight, $5.80 place, $2.80 show; Oddesa Frank, $15.40 place, $4.20 show; Invincible, $2.20 show. Winner trained by H. H. Battle. Went to post at 3:45½. At post 1 minute. Start good from gate. Won driving; place same.

STRUT drew into command quickly, was taken under restraint on the stretch turn, closed well under energetic riding and probably had little in reserve. ODDESA FRANK, also having good speed from the start, raced wide the final five-sixteenths and, holding on well, outstayed INVINCIBLE. The latter raced wide after the first three-sixteenths and under stress pressure throughout, could not improve his position.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $200; third, $75; fourth, $25.

Time, :23 2-5, :47 2-5, 1:12 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Solar Hawk, $11.20 straight, $6.00 place, $4.20 show; Miss Dolphin, $14.40 place, $11.60 show; Virginia J., $21.00 show. Winner trained by J. J. Flanigan. Went to post at 4:13. At post 3 minutes. Start bad from gate. Won driving; place same.

SOLAR HAWK away in motion but unable to hold the advantage, came to the outside in the stretch, closed with fine speed under strong riding and, wearing down MISS DOLPHIN, drew clear in the closing strides. Latter took command without need of pressure, opened up a long lead when straightened out in the stretch, and held on well, but could not withstand the rush of the winner. VIRGINIA J., far back in the early stages and forced to the extreme outside for room in the stretch, rallied stoutly in the last eighth.

IT'S A MIRACLE! YANKS GET 3 HITS, LOSE TO A'S, 4-3

Ross, Smith Toy with All but Lazzeri.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The last place Athletics accomplished today what the first division of the American league has failed to do for weeks against the New York Yankees. Throwing a couple of their pitching youngsters, Buck Ross and Ed Smith, against the league leaders, the A's stopped them with three hits for a 4 to 3 victory.

Only once before during this season have the Yanks been so humiliated, and for the last three weeks no team has been able to come close to the performance the Philadelphians turned in.

The Yanks were able to do little against either Ross or Smith.

A single by Lou Gehrig and an error by Catcher Earl Brucker gave the New Yorkers a run in the first, and Bill Dickey's double, followed by Tony Lazzeri's eleventh homer, added two more in the fourth.

TIGERS BEAT BROWNS, 7-6.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Hank Greenberg hit his 26th home run of the season and Charlie Gehringer continued his heavy hitting by getting a homer as the Tigers defeated St. Louis, 7 to 6, today. Detroit did all its scoring in the early innings off Oral Hildebrand. The victory moved the Tigers into a tie with the Boston Red Sox for second place as both the Red Sox and the third place White Sox were beaten. Score:

FETTE WINS FOURTEENTH.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Lou Fette, the Boston Bees' ace rookie, beat Waite Hoyt and the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5 to 2, today with the aid of collapse on the part of the Brooklyn infield in the eighth inning. A pair of errors by Cookie Lavagetto, Gene Moore's triple and Vince Di Maggio's homer in that inning gave the Bees three runs to break up the struggle. Fette fanned eight and allowed only six hits as he chalked up his 14th victory of the season against four defeats. Score:

They entered the finals of the tournament today with decisive semi-final victories in 36 hole tests.

McCormick, 28, defeated the Pittsburgh darkhorse, Andrew Szedko, 5 and 4. Erickson, made his latest bid with a 4 and 3 setback of Frank Toronto of Sacramento.

The finals will bring together two southern Californians, who have much in common through identical finishes in the 1934 championship when each reached the semi-finals.

Dietrich, Allen Pitch for Sox, Indians Today

Cleveland, O., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Bill Dietrich for Chicago and Johnny Allen for Cleveland will be the opposing pitchers in tomorrow's White Sox-Indian game.

When Manager Dykes reached League park this noon he was told the Indian management had changed an earlier plan to play tomorrow's game at the Municipal stadium. Sunday's double-header will be played in the big lake front arena, however.

Lee and Lyons will start the Sunday games for the Sox. Feller and Wyatt are the Indian nominees.

Zeke Bonura, who pulled an abdominal muscle while stealing home in yesterday's second game at Detroit, was sent to Lakeside hospital here. Manager Dykes said he wanted to make sure Zeke stayed in bed and thought the hospital the best place for him to be kept under surveillance.

reaching second and Trosky first. Solters singled to left, scoring Averill. Campbell again forced Solters and Hale flied to Radcliff.

Sullivan upset the Kennedy system in the fourth by refusing to wait for a pass. Instead, Bill doubled and took third on a passed ball. Harder was called out on strikes but Sullivan scored on Lary's fly to Radcliff.

Kroner singled, but Averill flied to Radcliff. The Sox added their third run in the sixth. Radcliff singled, the fourth Chicago hit, and went to second on Applings' out and scored on Haas' line single to right.

The Kennedy system caused no distress in the sixth. Sullivan led off with a walk, but Harder fanned and Lary hit into a double play.

Kroner walked to start the home seventh and a double by Averill, Solters' fourth hit, a single, and a single by Campbell produced two runs before a double play halted the parade.

Sullivan walked to start the eighth, and after being sacrificed to second scored on Kroner's single.

RIGGS AND PARKER GAIN SEMI-FINALS OF EASTERN MEET

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Three of America's younger tennis stars and one comeback bound veteran, Frank Shields, advanced to the semi-finals of the eastern grass courts championships at the Westchester Country club today as Poland's Jadwiga Jedrejowska qualified for another meeting with Alice Marble of San Francisco, Cal., American champion, in the women's singles final.

The largest weekday gallery ever to watch the tournament turned out to see two of the youngsters, top seeded Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, and Bobby Riggs, Hollywood, Cal., win the day's outstanding matches.

Parker eliminated Hal Surface of Kansas City, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, while Riggs slammed out a 6-2, 6-2 victory over John Van Ryn of Austin, Tex., a former Davis cup player.

Shields trounced Fumiteru Nakano of Japan's Davis cup team, 6-1, 7-5. Joe Hunt of Los Angeles, national junior champion, whipped Gerin Cameron of Tulsa, Okla., 6-2, 11-9. Miss Jedrejowska, who lost to Miss Marble at Seabright, N. J., reached the last round by routing Gracyn Wheeler, 6-3, 6-0.

Cubs Defeat Reds, 22-6; Get 21 Hits

walked and Frey then furnished the punch needed for two more runs. He singled to left, sending Jurges and Marty home.

Kampouris made the arrangements for the nine run third inning by proving that two errors could be made on one play. He fumbled Cavarretta's grounder and then after losing the runner, threw wild to first. Demaree hit the right field screen for three bases, Cavarretta scoring. Demaree sauntered home on O'Dea's single to right. Jurges bunted but the Reds forgot about recovering the ball so it went for a hit.

Galan also bunted for a hit and Hallahan promoted progress for everybody by throwing wild past first, O'Dea scoring, Jurges going to third and Galan to second. This much of the party belonged to Hallahan.

Another Big Inning.

Cascarella came in and the performance went from bad to worse. The American league castoff walked Marty, filling the bases. Root forced Marty and Kampouris, in trying to complete an easy double play, threw the ball away. The error let Galan follow Jurges across the plate, Hack and Frey singled, Root scoring on the latter hit. Cavarretta singled and Hack counted. The bases were filled on a pass to Demaree.

O'Dea hoisted a fly to short right center and although three men surrounded it, nobody attempted the catch so O'Dea enjoyed his second hit of the inning, Frey scoring. Cavarretta went home while Jurges was being thrown out and the daffiness was concluded on Galan's fly.

The Reds' fourth started as if another mêlée was impending. Myers walked, Cascarella singled and G. Davis walked with one out. Walker tapped in front of the plate for a hit and in the confusion Root made a wild toss to O'Dea. Between the hit and the error Myers and Cascarella scored, but Root throttled the next two men.

Cascarella Goes Out.

Cascarella quit in the sixth with a badly dented record and a sliced toe. Galan singled with one out and Marty hit to Scarsella, who tossed to Cascarella at first. Marty stepped on the latter's toe and also knocked the ball out of his hands, Galan going to third. Cascarella went away for repairs and Mooty replaced him. Galan scored on Root's infield out. Hits by Demaree, O'Dea, and Marty added two more runs in the seventh, making the count 16 to 6.

The side splitting activity in the eighth, when six more Cubs skipped home, started with a triple by Hack and a pass to Frey. Cavarretta singled and Hack scored. A pass to Demaree loaded the bases. O'Dea singled to center and Davis did his bit of burlesqueing by letting the ball roll to the fence, three scoring and O'Dea taking third. He scored on Galan's fly. Jurges walked and permitted himself to be trapped off first, but Myers threw the ball into the grand stand, so Bill had to go to third. He scored the sixth run on Galan's fly.

GIANTS DENY THEY SEEK HARTNETT TO MANAGE CLUB

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Officials of the New York Giants, surrounded by reports of pending shakeups, took cognizance of one report today by issuing a vigorous denial that Catcher Gus Mancuso and Outfielder Wally Berger would be traded to the Chicago Cubs for Gabby Hartnett.

Hartnett has been linked with managerial gossip, growing out of reports that Bill Terry, present leader of the Giants, would become general manager of the club in 1938.

"There is absolutely no truth to this talk of a deal with the Cubs," said Eddie Brannick, club secretary. "No negotiations have been undertaken, for Hartnett or anybody else."

Meantime, the club president, Horace Stoneham, declined to discuss reports that he already had offered Terry a new contract, to replace one which has another year to run.

Davis Will Try His Luck Today Against Reds

Curt Davis, who has started only four times this season, one of which was a complete game, will try his luck on the Reds in the second game of the series today. The Reds will trust in either Gene Schott or Al Hollingsworth.

Alex Kampouris was presented with a new car before the game, Chicago Greeks being the donors. By way of expressing his appreciation Kampouris fanned with two men on base in his first appearance at the plate.

The K. O. administered Leroy Parmelee in the second inning wasn't entirely unexpected. He has pitched only one full game in the last two months.

The loud speaker system went on the bum and put Announcer Pat Piper out of business except for a few inaudible peeps through a megaphone.

All-Star Team Holds First Drill Today

pass receiving ability of Don Hutson and the passing skill of Herber occupied the thoughts of the All-Star staf. The coaches realize the magnitude of the task of preparing a defense for the fleet Hutson whose speed confused every professional team the Packers played last season. Defense will be taken up early next week, it was indicated.

Curley Lambeau, coach of the Packers, was in Chicago yesterday. He didn't meet the All-Star coaches, but he conferred with officials concerning the game at Soldiers' field.

George Bell, the Purdue center, wired yesterday he had injured his foot and would not be able to practice for several days. Because of injury he was granted permission to report next Wednesday.

Bud Wilkinson, Minnesota quarter back, who was employed this summer on a trans-Atlantic liner, landed Thursday in Boston. He will arrive today. Sammy Baugh, the great forward passer from Texas Christian, also is due this morning. Undoubtedly he, as well as Ray Bufvid of Marquette and Vernon Huffman of Indiana will unlimber their throwing arms at the initial drill this afternoon.

PACKERS DRILL TODAY

Green Bay, Wis., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—With 31 men, including 22 veterans, expected to be in uniform for the opening drill, the Green Bay Packers, National Professional Football league champions, tomorrow will begin preparations for their appearance against the college All-Stars at Chicago Sept. 1.

Five members of last year's Packer squad will be missing from tomorrow's drill, with Cal Clemons, blocking quarter back, added today to the holdout list. Other absentees from the 1936 roster will include Johnny Blood, half back veteran who will coach Pittsburgh this year; Walter Kiesling, guard, who has signed to assist Blood; Tony Paulekas, center and guard, who did not agree to terms this year, and Adolph [Tar] Schwammel, right tackle stalwart who retired from the grid game.

Coach E. L. [Curly] Lambeau, who will be assisted this year by Richard [Red] Smith and August [Mike] Michalske, has scheduled two daily sessions for his charges for at least the first two weeks of training.

RODAK WHIPS PINE IN EIGHT ROUNDS; BOLDEN TRIUMPHS

Leo Rodak defeated Lloyd Pine, of Akron, O., in eight rounds at White City last night before 802 spectators who paid $928. It was the former Chicago Golden Gloves champion's thirty-second victory in his campaign as a featherweight.

Nate Bolden, who won his intercity Golden Gloves contest last March, pounded out a six round decision over Ernie Horn, Grand Rapids, Mich., middleweight.

Johnny Shepherd, Cleveland sharpshooter, knocked out Willie Kirkpatrick, Chicago lightweight, in 47 seconds of the first round.

Johnny Helstrom, north side 136 pounder, scored a knockdown in the first and another in the second to conquer Phil Saeli in four rounds. In the first match, also a four rounder, Cappy Wooten, Council Bluffs, Ia., junior welterweight and Pete Leone, stablemate of Pine, battled to a draw.

Lee Shepherd of Cleveland was awarded a decision over Battling Raymond in a third four-round bout when the New Orleans 135 pounder whose eye had been cut, was unable to continue.

17 All-Stars Check In; All Set for Drill

The advance guard of the College All-Star football team began checking in yesterday at the Hinman house on the Northwestern campus which will serve as the team's headquarters during the training period. By last night 17 players had put in appearance. Most of the squad of 67 will be on hand for the first practice session scheduled for this afternoon.

Yesterday's arrivals drew equipment at Dyche stadium in the morning. The prospect of seeing a big league baseball game attracted a number of the players. Among those who journeyed to Wrigley field for the Cubs-Cincinnati game were Ed Goddard, Washington State half back; Gerry Conlee, St. Mary's center; Jerry Dennerlein, Santa Clara tackle; Hal Carlson, De Paul guard; Johnny Zitko, Northwestern end, and Joe Riley, Alabama quarter back.

Three of the Illinois players on the squad had checked in by last night. The Illini representatives are Gene Dykstra, tackle; Ken Nelson, end, and Cliff Kuhn, guard. The latter, who will join the football staf at Vermont this fall, was greeted by Johnny Sabo, Vermont coach. Johnny, a former Illinois player, has been taking a post graduate course at the University of Iowa this summer.

Rut Walter, former Northwestern track star and a member of the Wildcat athletic staf, was on hand to extend a welcome to the early arrivals. Walter will serve as house manager for the squad. A crew of collegians, most of them Wildcat football players, will operate a taxi service for the players to and from the stadium.

John Drake of Purdue, an outstanding half back in the Big Ten for the last three years, showed up weighing 210 pounds. The former Boilermaker star is a confirmed Californian after having spent two months on a job at Oakland, Cal. "It's the west coast for me from now on," he told the boys at the Hinman house yesterday.

Don Geyer, Northwestern full back, spent the summer in the north woods. Geyer, who will report today, served as an assistant at the boys' camp operated by Coach Jack Vance of the Wildcat staf.

Siebel C. Harris, one of the nation's leading grain brokers and first vice president of the Chicago Board of Trade, died suddenly yesterday at the Highland Park hospital following an operation for a knee injury. Death was attributed to a pulmonary embolism, which is an obstruction of the pulmonary artery, as by a clot or bubble.

Mr. Harris was 48 years old and the senior partner of the brokerage firm of Harris, Burrows & Hicks. He was a world war veteran.

Injures Knee at Camp.

He entered the hospital several days ago following return from a vacation at his camp at Land O' Lakes, Wis., where his knee was injured. An operation followed, and Mr. Harris apparently was recovering. He died as his wife sat at his bedside.

At one time Mr. Harris was chairman of the Grain Committee on National Affairs, which represented all principal grain exchanges as well as the Grain and Feed Dealers' National association at Washington, D. C.

Mr. Harris is survived by his widow, Jean Aitken Harris, and two sons, Laurence and Donald. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Monday at the First Methodist church chapel in Evanston. Burial will be private.

ILLINOIS DEATHS DECLINE IN 1937 AS BIRTHS RISE

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The number of deaths in Illinois in the first six months of this year dropped 1,241 from the total of 47,566 for the same period of 1936, while births rose from 51,731 to 52,091, the health department reported today.

Dr. Frank J. Jirka, state health director, said that for the first time in many years the death rate from the chronic diseases of later life—heart ailment, cancer, nephritis, apoplexy, and diabetes—was sharply lower, 25,195 against 26,801.

"Discouraging is the 21 per cent increase in the motor vehicle death toll, 1,176 against 971 in the half year of 1936," Dr. Jirka said.

All the epidemic and contagious diseases except influenza and infantile paralysis showed a lower mortality rate. Maternal deaths dropped from 4.7 to 4.5, while infant deaths were 50 for each 1,000 births compared with 51.

MARX BROTHERS READY TO RETURN TO RADIO LANES

Plan to End Absence of Four Years.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Cuff notes:

The Marx brothers are reported just about set for their first air series in four years. . . . Rubinoff has not yet signed any radio contracts for fall. Soon after his appearance at the Chicagoland Music Festival he goes to Kansas City to conduct the Symphony orchestra there at the Jubilesta and then goes back to Hollywood for another picture. . . . A dramatization in thirteen instalments of "Porgy and Bess" with an all colored cast is in prospect for fall. . . . Tommy Riggs, who does that kid character, Betty Lou, on the Vallee program, is being groomed for a Charlie McCarthy's love interest. . . . Kay Thompson and her Rhythm Singers have been engaged for the new Ed Wynn musical "Hooray for What!"

The Dina-Mite company is to present a new kid show on WIND titled "Bill, Mack, and Jimmy." Sounds like an association of high potential percussion possibilities.

Barn Dance comedians Toby and Suzy made front pages in Iowa the other day when they had to bail out of a plane doing a stunt at a county fair. A wing strut broke. They came down in a cornfield without injury.

"The Headless Horseman," an original operetta, based on Washington Irving's classic, "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," written by Stephen Vincent Benet with music by Douglas Moore, is to be aired over NBC at 7 p. m. Sunday, Aug. 22. Benet's verse novel "John Brown's Body" won the Pulitzer prize a few years ago.

José Iturbi, who was cut off the air last Monday when he declined to permit the rendition of a popular ballad at Robin Hood Dell, will be back on the air from the same spot over NBC next Tuesday evening. Beethoven's "Eroica Symphony" is scheduled for an airing.

Clem McCarthy and Ed Hill are slated to do the Louis-Farr fight over both NBC nets Thursday night, Aug. 26. The same motor car that aired the Louis-Braddock bout will be sponsor.

Gen. Emilio Aguinaldo, insurrection leader, said:

"The United States, convinced that her mission in the Philippines is coming to a close, is trying to help us reach the goal of our aspirations, independence, with the least possible shock to our material interests."

Aguinaldo told Americans they might be proud of their work in the Philippines.

BELIEVE 3 YOUTHS PERISHED IN LAKE; FIND EMPTY BOAT

Grand Haven, Mich., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Three Muskegon youths were feared dead tonight following the recovery of their small outboard motor boat in Lake Michigan 30 miles southwest of here. Two of the youths were John and Edward Sloan and the third was believed to be Gene Ghezzi.

Forest King, an airplane pilot, sighted their overturned boat this afternoon. He notified United States coast guardsmen here and they recovered the craft.

The Sloans and Ghezzie were said to have left Muskegon for Milwaukee late Wednesday, just before a heavy storm.

Unlock Wilmette Police Call Boxes for Drivers

The police call boxes at each end of Skokie boulevard, Wilmette, are to be kept unlocked hereafter for emergency use, Police Chief Cloyd C. McClure, announced yesterday. The boulevard through Wilmette is four miles long. Homes and telephones are few. As a result, unusual delay occurs before an accident can be reported in that zone and help summoned. In case of accident motorists may now use the call boxes for direct communication with police.

BARON RUNCIMAN, BRITISH SHIPPING MOGUL, IS DEAD

"Grand Old Man" Began Career as Cabin Boy.

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Baron Runciman, who began a career of following the sea by running away from home 78 years ago to become a cabin boy, died today at the age of 90, the "grand old man" of British shipping. He was the father of Walter Runciman, who was made a viscount several weeks ago upon his retirement after serving in several Conservative cabinets.

Baron Runciman's first ship took him on a voyage to the South Seas. After that he followed the sea as sailor and ship's officer for a quarter century, getting his mate's certificate at 20 and his first command at 24. "The University of Sailing Ships" gave him most of his early education.

He founded his first shipping line, the Moor line, nearly 65 years ago, and his interests expanded until they included some of the finest ships afloat. He was head of Walter Runciman & Co., chairman of the Anchor Line, and director of many steamship companies.

INSULL CREDITOR SETTLEMENT IS FILED IN COURT

11 Banks Would Turn Over $4,635,088.

A settlement under which 11 New York and Chicago banks will turn over $4,635,088 to the unsecured creditors of two bankrupt Insull investment companies was filed yesterday in the United States District court. If approved by the court the settlement will end the suits brought against the banks by unsecured creditors of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Corporation Securities company of Chicago.

These suits sought recovery from the banks of the collateral which the two companies pledged as security for loans. The unsecured creditors contended that part of the collateral had been improperly pledged and should be liquidated for the benefit of all creditors. Under terms of the settlement the banks retain the collateral, which has a current market value of about $45,000,000.

Hearing Set for Oct. 27.

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward approved the filing of the settlement and set Oct. 27 for a hearing to determine the percentage of consents needed to make the plan binding on all unsecured creditors. The plan has been approved by committees representing a substantial amount of the $57,651,000 of debentures of Insull Utility and the $19,331,000 of notes of Corporation Securities.

As part of the settlement the banks are to cancel their own claims against the two companies and procure the withdrawal of all other claims, but those of the debenture holders of Insull Utility and the note holders of Corporation Securities.

On the basis of the proposed settlement it is estimated that the debenture holders of Insull Utility will receive approximately $62.40 per $1,000 face value of their bonds. From the $3,435,088 which the banks will turn over the trustee, an estimated $500,000 will be deducted to provide for expenses and fees of the trusteeship.

Get $61.50 Per $1,000 Claim.

The banks will pay over $1,200,000 to the trustee of Corporation Securities. The note holders of the company will get an estimated $61.50 per $1,000 face value of their claims after providing $200,000 for estimated attorneys fees, trustees fees, and expenses.

An additional payment to holders of validated claims may be made after Dec. 31, 1942. At that time proceeds not claimed by note holders will be divided pro rata among those creditors who have established their claims with the court.

Attorney Frederick Burnham, spokesman for the bank creditors, said that the settlement of the litigation affecting collateral may clear the way for the termination of all other litigation over the two companies, including liability suits brought against officers and directors. The banks were not involved in the latter suits.

Eliminates Cross Claims.

The settlement presented to the court will wash out cross claims of the two companies against each other. This will enable the immediate distribution of settlement funds when they are turned over to the trustees of the banks.

The two companies were the principal holding units through which Samuel Insull and his family exercised control of the various Insull utility properties. Both companies were placed in receivership in 1932.

Air Line Drops Extra Fare Charges on Certain Planes

Transcontinental and Western Air, Inc., has eliminated extra fare charges on "skysleeper" and "skyclub" planes, John B. Walker, vice president in charge of trafic, announced yesterday. The saving to air travelers will be about 3 per cent on transcontinental flights and between Chicago and New York, Walker said.

ELEVATED HIGHWAYS ARE PREDICTED FOR 'CITY OF TOMORROW'

The "City of Tomorrow" will have elevated express highways, elevated sidewalks, local streets without intersections, underground automobile parking, and 1,500 foot skyscrapers, predicted C. B. Jewell, advertising and sales promotion manager of the Shell Petroleum company, yesterday noon at a luncheon meeting of the Executives' club of Chicago at the Hotel Sherman.

"The automobile saturation point of our highways and city roadways is here today," said Jewell in pointing out that future city planning must center around the problem of trafic facilitation. He said future plans should aim for safety for pedestrians and motorists, elimination of trafic jams, making automobile driving a pleasure, and making suburbs accessible to metropolitan business sections.

"City planners tell us," Jewell added, "that our cities cannot grow any larger unless they are made to take care of trafic problems, and at the same time they predict that our metropolitan areas will grow larger."

Illinois today has about 1,600,000 automobiles in operation, the speaker pointed out. He said that if population and automobile ownership increases as anticipated, there will be 2,900,000 cars, an increase of 80 per cent, in Illinois in 1986.

Stocks Climb; Million Share Mark Returns

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 13.—With volume again above the 1,000,000 share mark and bullish sentiment abounding, prices on the stock exchange took a decided jump today, increases ranging to around 4 points. Steels, motors, oils, and farm equipments were the most active and buoyant, but rails and utilities also pushed higher.

Prospect of an early adjournment by congress of the session acted as a favorable stimulus, it was agreed. Optimism over earnings and dividends tended to overcome the caution evident in recent sessions.

Rails Firmness Encouraging.

Moreover, the firmness in the rail sector was believed to have encouraged those who like to see activity in all divisions of the list. Far east developments had no serious effect marketwise, observers held.

United States Steel pushed to 120, receded to 119, and then surged ahead again to 120⅛ for a net gain of 1⅞ points. Other steels joined in, Bethlehem, Crucible, National, Republic, and Youngstown Steel gaining fractions to 1½ points.

General Motors and Chrysler were pushed higher on good buying, adding 1 and ½ point, respectively. Lower priced auto stocks followed with fractional increases.

Oils continued to attract a large following, Socony-Vacuum making a new 1937 peak with a large fractional increase, while other oil stocks firmed.

Earnings Help Rail Shares.

The demand for rail shares was believed to be predicated on the belief that increased earnings will more than offset larger expenditures resulting from current wage conferences. Atchison added 1 point in moderate trading, Southern Railway and Union Pacific added about as much, while a long list of others appeared at fractionally higher prices.

Reflecting potentialities of increased business as the result of larger farm income, the farm equipment group displayed about the best gains. Deere appreciated more than 3 points; Allis-Chalmers, 2 points; Oliver Farms, 1½, and Case Threshing, 1 point.

Fractional increases in a diminishing turnover were the rule in the utility sector.

Radio corporation again moved in the best volume of the day, selling at 11⅝ for a fractional increase.

Boeing led the aviation group, jumping more than 1 point. Goodyear added a fraction on good buying, while U. S. Rubber common and preferred added 1¼ and 3¼ points, respectively.

Paramount and Warner Brothers were outstanding in the amusement field, adding small fractions on good turnovers.

BELGIUM LEVIES BIG TAX ON GOLD AND FRANC PROFIT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The Belgian government has levied a tax of 20 per cent on certain speculative profits from transactions growing out of the devaluation of the franc in March, 1935, according to reports received today by commerce department officials.

The tax would be effective on all forward sales of Belgian francs against foreign currency either in Belgium or abroad, and all cash or forward purchases in Belgium or abroad of gold or foreign currency during the period Nov. 1, 1934, to March 29, 1935.

The Belgian government seeks to penalize persons who exported gold or currency just prior to the first devaluation in 1935, it was said.

Commercial Paper Credit Increases Sharply in July

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The volume of outstanding commercial paper rose sharply in July to $324,700,000 at the end of the month, compared with $284,600,000 at the close of June, according to the monthly survey of the federal reserve bank of New York, which is based on reports from commercial paper dealers. The total was the highest for any July since 1930, when about $500,000,000 of commercial paper was outstanding. The current figure is the largest to be reported for any month since January, 1931. It compares with a depression low of $60,000,000 in May, 1933. The total in July, 1936, amounted to $187,600,000.

AUTO OUTPUT RISES SHARPLY IN FACE OF END OF MODEL YEAR

The output of automobiles in American and Canadian factories rose sharply this week contrary to the customary trend at the close of the production year. Ward's Automotive Reports yesterday estimated the week's production at 103,250 vehicles against the revised estimate of 78,736 for the preceding week and 55,329 units in the corresponding week of 1936.

Expansion in operations resulted from the resumption of Ford and Plymouth assembly operations at the end of last week. The Ward agency estimated that August production of the industry would reach about 375,000 cars and trucks, which would be the highest output on record for the last month of the model year. All major producers are preparing to go into production soon on their 1938 models.

General Motors' output this week was placed at 41,865 units, against 48,902 last week. Chrysler's production was estimated at 26,900, unchanged from the preceding week. Ford turned out an estimated 26,000 cars, compared with 300 in the preceding week of slack activity.

SEVERAL FIRMS BUY BIG BLOCKS OF OWN STOCKS

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Investment trusts and other leading corporations acquired substantial blocks of their own stocks and bonds for treasury accounts in recent weeks when security markets moved within a narrow range, the New York Stock exchange and New York Curb exchange revealed today.

One of the largest acquisitions was that by Columbia Broadcasting, which purchased 2,850 shares of class A stock and 189,750 shares of class B.

Adams Express holdings totaled 941,375 shares, an increase of 7,400, but the aggregate included 282,313 shares not authorized for listing on the New York Stock exchange.

Transamerica corporation acquired 61,481 capital shares during July, bringing the total to 177,481, which figure represents shares of the old no par value stock equivalent to 88,740½ shares of the presently listed $2 par value stock.

Atlas corporation reported holdings of 564,110 common shares, against 554,416 in its previous report. Its holdings of 6 per cent preferred were 33,469, against 29,609.

INVESTORS FUND CHIEF ACCUSES FORMER OFFICER

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Lucian A. Eddy, president of Investors Fund of America, charged today that Donald P. Kenyon, former chairman of the fund, paid $30,000 to three midwestern brokers to "keep still" about alleged irregularities in Kenyon's management of the fund.

Eddy asserted the brokers were William B. Prugh of Kansas City, Clarence O. Robinson of Indianapolis, and Fenwick T. Reed of Chicago. He related that they protested some of Kenyon's deals and demanded return of the money they and their clients had put into stock of the fund. The fund, the witness said, bought back the stock at its liquidating value and Kenyon borrowed $30,000 from the fund to pay the brokers the difference between that amount and the original purchase price.

Eddy asserted the brokers threatened to expose Kenyon unless the stock was repurchased and Kenyon promised as the price of silence about his activities to make up any losses on the liquidating value of the stock.

CANADIAN SHIP LINE TO CHICAGO WINS APPROVAL

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—An interstate commerce commission examiner recommended today that the commission approve the application of the Canadian Pacific railway to install a new steamship service from Port McNicoll, Ont., to Milwaukee and Chicago on Lake Michigan.

The carrier proposes to establish through lake-rail routes over its road in conjunction with the new boat line, and to publish joint rates between eastern Canada, New England, New York City, and interior points in the United States.

Senate Defies Roosevelt on Sugar Control

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—Defying a veto by President Roosevelt, the senate today passed a sugar control bill which is not acceptable to him because it assertedly discriminates against Hawaii and Porto Rico. The house had previously passed a similar measure and members of the sugar bloc in that body say they have enough votes to override a possible veto.

Senator J. P. Pope.

The bill now goes to conference for consideration of the senate compromise amendment, which retained the house restrictions on Hawaiian and Porto Rican refined sugar—29,600 and 126,033 short tons, respectively—but also limited the production of American cane and beet sugar on a percentage basis.

Domestic Output Limited.

In effect, the measure will freeze the domestic refining output substantially at the present level, about 6,000,000 tons. Senator Pope [D., Idaho] suggested that the refining provisions be limted to one year.

The administration objected to the bill on the ground that, while Hawaii and Porto Rico are given quotas equal to their historical peak productions—the same quotas imposed by the expiring Jones-Costigan act—the capacity of the island possessions is much higher. Not in dispute are the refined quotas of 375,000 tons for Cuba and 80,214 tons for the Philippine islands.

In the event of a prospective sugar shortage, the secretary of agriculture is empowered to increase the refined quotas on a pro-rata basis.

Passed Without Record Vote.

The senate passed the bill without a record vote after two days of debate. It rejected a plea by Senator Pepper [D., Fla.] that his state be given a larger quota under its provisions for dividing the domestic market among producing areas. Pepper charged that "a little group of senators sat around a table and fixed the quotas."

Senator Copeland [D., N. Y.], attacking the quota system of balancing American supply and demand, said the measure "treated Porto Rico like a stepchild" and criticized what he said was the "exploitation" of child labor in the western sugar beet fields.

FREIGHT TRAFIC DECLINES MORE THAN NORMALLY

Railroad freight car loadings last week totaled 769,706 cars, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday.

This was a more than seasonal decrease of 12,954 cars, or 1.07 per cent, from the preceding week's loadings, but was 41,335 cars, or 5.7 per cent, above loadings of 728,371 cars in the like week of 1936.

The gain over the corresponding week of 1935 was 32.2 per cent. Loadings in that week totaled 582,077 cars.

The association's classified report of loadings of the respective commodities with comparisons follows:

	Wk. ended July 31.	—Change from— Prec. wk.	Yr. ago.

The Dow-Jones weekly loadings index, based on the average of the last fifteen years as 100, declined to 89.6 from 91.5 in the week ended July 31.

Gold Flow Diminishes; London Price Falls Cent

Engagements of foreign gold for shipment to the United States dropped to $1,828,000 yesterday, the New York Reserve bank reported. The London gold price fell a cent to $34.76 an ounce. The British pound advanced 1-16 cent, closing at $4.98⅛ at New York. The French franc rose ⅝ cent to 3.75½ cents.

WHEAT CLOSES FIRMER AFTER MANY CHANGES

Upturn in Canadian Market Is Factor.

CHICAGO GRAIN FUTURES

Closing prices on the September delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Thursday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$1.12¾	$1.12½	$1.10⅝
Corn	.97⅛	.96¾	1.07⅝
Oats	.29⅛	.29½	.42½
Rye	.83	.81⅛	.80⅝
Soy beans [Oct.]	.97½	.97½	.....

North American grain markets developed a much firmer undertone yesterday following an early dip which carried wheat prices down about a cent a bushel. The early decline was followed by a sharp rally, largely in sympathy with the Winnipeg market, where the October delivery of wheat went to about 18 cents a bushel over the September future in Chicago. This was said to be the largest premium so far this season.

Profit taking caused a reaction from the best prices on wheat, with the close on the Chicago Board of Trade ¼ cent higher. Winnipeg gained ⅛ to 1¼ cents, with buying by exporters and Canadian mills reported as responsible for the strength. October wheat in the Canadian market closed at $1.30⅞ a bushel.

Corn Rises on Short Covering.

Short covering developed in corn futures and the close was ½ to ⅞ cent higher, the latter gain on the September delivery. Purchases of about 25,000 bushels of new Texas corn were understood to have been made yesterday by commission houses with headquarters in Chicago. The price paid for the grain was said to figure out about 7 cents a bushel over the Chicago September delivery, including freight and other charges to the Chicago market.

While the amount of Texas corn bought in the last two days is relatively small, the trade expressed fears that it might be shipped to Chicago for delivery on September contracts.

Part of the premium of 33½ cents a bushel for September corn over the December delivery is regarded as due to the scarcity of domestic cash grain available for delivery purposes. Only 5 cars of domestic No. 2 yellow corn were received at Chicago yesterday and sold 8½ cents a bushel over the September future.

Wheat Lower in Liverpool.

Liverpool wheat futures declined over a cent a bushel early yesterday on increased Russian offerings and reports that Rumania had placed an export bounty of 6¼ cents on wheat, but rallied with North America and closed ⅜ to ⅞ cent a bushel higher.

Reports were current yesterday that the Saskatchewan "wheat pool" had purchased 750,000 bushels of low grade wheat to be used for feed purposes in that province, and that the provincial relief requirements would be 8,000,000 bushels. However, wheat pool officials again denied the previously rumored purchases of 7,000,000 bushels, and stated that they had not determined their buying policy.

Houses which frequently act for exporters were fairly persistent buyers of September rye yesterday, resulting in reports of additional sales of the grain to Europe.

Closing trades on rye futures were 1⅛ cents higher to ⅛ cent a bushel lower, the chief gain being in the September delivery, which was 29¾ cents a bushel under September wheat.

U. S. AND CANADA SET NEW RECORD FOR NEWSPRINT

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—The combined United States and Canadian newsprint output set a new peak in July, the third consecutive month in which a new high figure was established, according to figures reported by the Newsprint Service Bureau.

The latest mark was due to the continued rise in the Canadian output, which increased 39,902 tons, or 14½ per cent, during the month. United States and Newfoundland mills also reported a larger output during July than a year ago, but United States production continues far below the record for the country.

Canadian mills during July produced 314,529 tons of newsprint, against 274,627 a year ago. The United States output was 78,205 tons, against 73,361 tons a year ago, an increase of 6.6 per cent. The total for both countries was 392,734 tons, against 347,988 a year ago, an increase of 12.9 per cent.

RFC Is Awarded Judgment on Dealer's Note to Bank

Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward yesterday entered a consent judgment for $43,856 in favor of the Reconstruction Finance corporation against Frank Bobrytzke, investment security dealer, 2511 Southport avenue. The judgment represents approximately $28,000 in principal and $15,000 in interest on a promissory note to the defunct Northwest Trust and Savings bank in 1931. The note was obtained by the RFC as part of collateral for a loan to the bank.

SEC Delays Van Sweringen Merger Vote

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The Securities commission caused the Alleghany corporation and the Chesapeake corporation to agree today to give out further information about their proposed merger before asking stockholders to approve it. Meetings of stockholders scheduled for Aug. 17 were postponed indefinitely, pending distribution of the additional information.

The commission said its action was taken because the commission was of the opinion that the information previously submitted to security holders would be misleading unless appropriately supplemented.

Will Show Extent of Control.

"It is understood," the commission said, "that this additional information will include disclosure of the extent to which the Young-Kolbe-Kirby interests control the two corporations, the security holdings of all directors of both corporations, and certain additional information with respect to the details of the plan and the rights of the security holders."

The commission also said the Chesapeake corporation had agreed to appoint representatives for dissenting stockholders to study a part of the merger plan which would give stockholders of the Chesapeake corporation the option of taking either shares of the new merged company or common stock of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway company.

Explains Merger Purpose.

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Robert R. Young, New York financier favoring early merger of two top holding companies of the Van Sweringen rail empire, testified here today he sought such action to preclude payment of any merger tax congress might enact in the future. Young testified in Circuit court, opposing two suits which ask an injunction to prevent the merger of the Chesapeake corporation and the Alleghany corporation.

Young said he believed congress would continue to enact holding company legislation and that eventually any such merger would entail payment of federal taxes by the Chesapeake corporation. The two corporations could be merged now without such tax payment, he said.

Plaintifs in the suits argued the merger would weaken the position as stockholders.

WIERTON STEEL ATTACKS LABOR BOARD POWERS

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 13.—(AP)—E. T. Weir's Weirton Steel company today challenged the right of the National Labor Relations board to conduct a hearing on charges that the company intimidated its employés in opposing the steel workers' organizing committee.

The steel company, subsidiary of the National Steel corporation, which is headed by Weir, asked for dismissal of the board's complaint, asserting the board acted "in concert" with the union in making its charges.

Charles T. Douds, regional labor board director, refused the company's request and said a hearing on the complaint would be held next Monday in New Cumberland, W. Va.

The complaint was "the result of an arrangement" between the board and the union to "assist the S. W. O. C. in its efforts to force Weirton employés against their wishes" to join the C. I. O. affiliate, the company declared.

Weirton Steel was the first major industrial concern to win a court decision under the labor provisions of the old National Industrial Recovery act. The government charged it in 1934 with attempting to dominate its employé representative system.

ROOSEVELT NO. 1 BILL—WAGES AND HOURS—BURIED

Other 'Must' Plans Are Speeded.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—The most important measure on President Roosevelt's five point legislative program—the wages and hours bill—was definitly eliminated in the house today. But speedy action was taken on other "must" measures and the weary members again saw prospects of an adjournment within a week or ten days.

Representative Martin Dies—Foe of wage-hour bill.

House committees late today approved legislation plugging alleged loopholes in the income tax laws, and a housing measure. The first bill will be brought up in the house Monday and the second on Wednesday or Thursday. They are the two bills blocking adjournment by Aug. 21.

Agrees to Cotton Loans.

The President today agreed to authorize loans to cotton farmers who pledged coöperation with a crop control program to be enacted at the next session. But this concession failed to soften the opposition of southeren Democrats to the bill setting up a minimum wage standard of 40 cents an hour and a maximum work week of 40 hours.

If Mr. Rooseveit had hoped by his yielding on cotton loans to win over members of the house rules committee to support of the wage-hour bill, he was disappointed. He summoned to the White House Representative Martin Dies [D., Tex.], leader of the recalcitrant southerners. But Dies came away asserting that he was still opposed to the wage bill. Like Representative E. E. Cox [D., Ga.], Dies maintained that his opposition was to the bill itself and that his stand had not been taken to force Mr. Roosevelt to authorize cotton loans.

Subsidy Also Is Granted.

The President agreed to authorize the Commodity Credit corporation to make 10 cents a pound loans on cotton with an additional subsidy, bringing up the amounts received by cotton growers to 12 cents a pound.

In return, the senate agricultural group which visited him pledged passage of a concurrent resolution in both houses which would make crop control legislation the first order of business at the next session. This might be either a special session this fall or the regular session next January. Only a few hours after this promise the senate passed the resolution and the house is expected to concur next week.

By passage of the sugar quota bill today the senate crossed off another of the five "must" measures mentioned by the President two weeks ago. The lower federal court reform bill has gone to the White House,

Lump Sums

Lump sums of money are comparatively easy to borrow these days

But

It is not always easy to pay back lump sums all at once at one time.

That's the reason why the Personal Loan & Savings Bank makes loans "on time", giving the borrower time to accumulate little by little, dollar by dollar, an amount sufficient to pay lump sums of $50 to $500 to $5,000 or more.

New York Bonds.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 13.—Investors today continued to buy, still rather cautiously, medium priced and defaulted railroad obligations, and prices in those divisions of the market again advanced on a rather light turnover.

Rail bonds in best demand at higher prices were various Rock Island issues, Colorado and Southern general 4½s, Florida East Coast 5s, Kansas City Southern refunding 5s, the whole Missouri Pacific group, and the Seaboard Air Line issues.

High grade rails marked time. Weak spots were uncovered at intervals.

United States treasury obligations slipped 2-32 to 8-32 point on revelation that banks had lightened portfolios materially in the last week.

Most of the leading industrial issues were little changed.

Japanese dollar bonds fell 2 or more points on the conflict in China. Several German issues advanced.

RETAIL TRADE INCREASED BY SPECIAL SALES

New York, Aug. 13.—[Special.]—Response to August sales promotions provided the major contribution to the moderate increase in retail distribution this week, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. Summer apparel was in demand, and knit goods, sportswear, and vacation accessories continued active.

Oppressive heat and intermittent showers interfered with shopping plans in so many districts that some leading centers of distribution failed to equal their sales of the preceding week. The general average, however, rose 1 to 3 per cent.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The Works Progress administration said today the cost of materials, supplies, and equipment used on its projects through June 30 was $446,378,503, of which 41 per cent was contributed by local governmental agencies. The largest expenditure, $49,209,237, was for lumber and lumber products. Cement cost $39,401,149 and paving supplies and mixtures $38,026,741.

Illinois Central and Milwaukee to Cut Costs as Income Falls

L. A. Downs.

The Illinois Central and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific railroads yesterday disclosed plans to reduce expenses because of curtailed revenues and higher operating costs. These are in line with the plan of the Burlington railroad, announced Thursday, to reduce its staf by 300 men and cancel orders for materials in an attempt to cut costs of operation.

L. A. Downs, president of the Illinois Central system, notified employés that "it has become necessary to make substantial reductions in our expenses." Such a step has become necessary, he asserted, because of the failure of business of the road to continue its expansion of the last few years.

"Our plans for this year were based on the expectation that the increase in business and revenue would continue," he said. "This expectation has not been realized. Indeed, the revenue has recently been less than a year ago. . . . Of course this means reducing our purchases and our employment, for that is where the money goes."

Details of what economy measures will be necessary are being worked out, it was said, and the number of persons to be affected will not be known until plans progress further.

Division superintendents and department heads of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad have been asked to ascertain at once how economies can be effected, it was said at the Chicago office.

The recent agreement reached between the railroads and nonoperating employés will result in an increase of $2,500,000 in the annual pay roll of the road, it was said. Expenses would be further increased by granting of pay increases to operating employés and enactment of the 70-car train bill congress is expected to pass.

The Milwaukee's freight loadings for August are about 1,800 cars below loadings last August, it was said.

ALLIS-CHALMERS PLANT EXPANSION TO COST $2,650,000

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Otto H. Falk, chairman of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, announced today an expansion costing $2,650,000 would be started immediately. The largest item will be an expenditure of about $1,750,000 at the company's plants in West Allis, Milwaukee suburb, for increased production of farm tractors.

The company will build an addition costing about $750,000 at its Springfield, Ill., plant, where industrial tractors are produced, and at the La Porte, Ind., factory extra machinery to cost about $150,000 will be installed.

Falk said no work would be done at the plant in Pittsburgh, where transformers are produced, until late in 1938. Only routine additions to equipment will be made at the company's factories in Norwood, O., and Boston, Mass.

COMPUTE WHEAT U. S., CANADA CAN SELL TO EUROPE

North America is expected to be able to furnish about 240,000,000 bushels of wheat for the use of Europe during the 1937-'38 season, or about the same amount as during the previous crop year. The recent official estimate on the 1937 crop in the United States indicates that this country may be able to spare about 181,000,000 bushels of wheat. Canada may be able to furnish about 59,000,000 bushels. Based on official data the supply and requirement situation in the United States and Canada for the 1937-'38 season compares as follows:

ILLINOIS OATS CROP LARGEST FOR 20 YEARS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 13.—(AP)—Illinois is harvesting its largest oats crop in twenty years. The Aug. 1 report of the state and federal departments of agriculture, relating good prospects for corn, soy beans, and fruit, said:

"Oats are a big crop generally and record yields are reported on many farms. The crop is very large in the central and west central areas. The indicated probable yield per acre at forty-two bushels is the highest since 1917."

A. J. Surratt, agricultural statistician, said the production outlook for Illinois oats at the start of the month was 148,260,000 bushels, compared with 99,608,000 harvested last year.

COURT TO PROBE BOOKS OF BRITISH LENDING FIRMS

New York, Aug. 13.—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Charles Poletti today ordered two British concerns—the United Kingdom Mercantile and Finance corporation, Ltd., and Heilbut Symons & Co., Ltd.—to be represented in court on Aug. 19 for an examination of their books and records.

Assistant Attorney General A. V. McCall said the firms have been conducting an international lending business by advertising in American newspapers, in which the offer of a loan was merely "bait" to get investors in gold mine stocks. He said more than 300 American firms had responded to the advertisements.

ROOSEVELT NO. 1 BILL—WAGES AND HOURS—IS BURIED

Other "Must" Measures Are Speeded.

and approval of the sugar bill by both houses left three measures on the list.

The status of these bills is as follows:

1. Wage-hour bill. Passed by the senate, but buried in the house rules committee.

2. Income tax legislation intended to prevent the "evasion" of taxes by incorporation of yachts, estates, etc. To be brought up Monday in the house.

3. The controversial housing bill, passed by the senate and to be brought up in the house next week with numerous amendments.

Bond Issue Is Cut.

The principal change in this last measure wrought by the house was a reduction of $200,000,000 in the $700,000,000 of federal bond issues to finance the program. Another major change provided that state or local provisions must contribute 25 per cent toward the annual subsidy in maintaining the projects on low rent scales. Under the senate bill the government would have paid the entire subsidy.

The house also boosted the unit cost from $4,000 to $5,000 and removed the $1,000 per room limitation. This provision had caused lengthy argument in the senate.

Local communities must provide 15 per cent of the cost of acquisition of property, the house stipulated. No provisions for such a contribution had been made in the senate bill.

Scheme to Bring Up Bill.

House leaders today considered all sorts of parliamentary schemes to disinter the wage-hour bill from its grave in the rules committee, but no speedy method of bringing up the bill was discovered.

Chairman Mary T. Norton (D., N. J.) of the house labor committee introduced a resolution calling for a rule on the bill. This was only a preliminary step in a long parliamentary program to get the bill before the house.

The resolution, of course, will be disregarded by the rules committee, but after seven days Mrs. Norton has the right to file a petition to discharge the committee from consideration of the rule.

This petition must obtain 218 signatures, a majority of the house. Another seven days must then elapse before the bill can be called up on either the second or fourth Monday of the month, under the rigid and sometimes peculiar rules of the house.

Chance for Action Dim.

Thus the first day upon which Chairman Norton can obtain consideration of the bill will be Sept. 13. And none thinks the house can be kept in session until then.

The rules committee today approved the "recess resolution" usually adopted in the closing days of congress. It enables the leaders to call up important measures without reference to the rules usually safeguarding hasty procedure.

But both Speaker Bankhead and Majority Leader Sam Rayburn had to give their personal assurance that the power granted under the resolution would not be used in connection with the wage-hour bill before the committee approved the resolution.

EXCHANGE MAY GET OUTSIDE AID IN TRADE DRIVE

The Chicago Stock exchange is considering the employment of an outside organization to determine how the market can attain a larger volume of trading, Thaddeus R. Benson, president, informed members in a letter yesterday.

Benson also disclosed that members who trade only for their own accounts are being asked for statements of financial condition. Formerly only members who deal directly with the public were asked to report.

The bringing in of an outside agency to help solve problems of the market is a part of the program to ascertain all contributing factors to the present relatively small volume of trading.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 13.—(AP)—The Labor department reported today that wholesale commodity prices last week dropped 0.1 per cent. The price level at the end of the week, the department said, was 87.4 per cent of its 1926 average.

UTILITIES POWER GROUP AND SEC CLASH ON PLANS

Judge William H. Holly in federal district court here yesterday continued until today a hearing on appointment of a receiver for the Utilities Power and Light corporation. The action followed an all-day session, during which attorneys for security holders renewed their objections to the appointment and counsel for the SEC argued for it.

The hearing, which attracted a large crowd, continued well after 5 p. m. when the court decided to allow additional time for arguments.

Abe Fortas, an attorney representing the Securities and Exchange commission, told the court the SEC would not approve a proposal of the Atlas corporation for recapitalization of Utilities Power—400 million dollar holding company once controlled by Harley L. Clarke.

Atlas Company Offers Plan.

Atlas, one of the company's principal creditors, made its proposal several days ago in an effort to take the concern out of reorganization proceedings under section 77 B of the amended bankruptcy act. Its plan contemplated wiping out $10,000,000 in debts.

Fortas renewed his motion for appointment of a trustee pending its reorganization in court. He termed the Atlas plan "unsound" and one which would do the company great damage. He said the company would emerge as a financial "cripple" and that the plan "cannot be legally consumated" in the opinion of the legal department of the SEC, which will ultimately approve or deny registration of new securities under the plan.

Object to Naming Trustee.

Attorneys representing security holders objected to the trustee appointment and urged the court to continue the present management in control, as it had been for several months since the filing of reorganization proceedings, pending action on various plans of reorganization already before the court.

Judge Holly had previously indicated a determination to appoint a trustee, but deferred action as a result of submission of the Atlas plan. A decision by the court is expected today.

Investors' Guide

Western Pacific Railroad.

Investors' Guide: Please give me information available on location and financial status of Western Pacific and your opinion of its preferred stock.—K. W. H.

Answer: The Western Pacific Railroad corporation is a holding company owning all stock of the Western Pacific Railroad company. The main line of the subsidiary extends 924 miles from Oakland, Cal., to Salt Lake City, Utah, where connection is made with the Denver and Rio Grande, which in turn connects with the Missouri Pacific. Connections also are made with the Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific. Branch lines in California, Nevada, and Utah extend 185 miles. The parent company also owns half of Denver and Rio Grande common stock and several other rail holdings.

The road functions as a link in a through route for fruit, vegetables, canned goods, and lumber from the west and the return transport of manufactured products. More than half of trafic is received from connections.

The wholly owned operating subsidiary is seeking to reorganize under provisions of the federal bankruptcy laws. Several plans have been presented, but no agreement has been reached between the various interests.

The company plan provides for reduction of annual fixed interest from $3,190,000 to $1,027,000. Maximum charges, including contingent interest and amortization, would be $4,297,000. The parent company would surrender its preferred stock, but retain ownership of common stock.

A plan submitted by a bondholder group would cut fixed interest to $881,000 and maximum charges would be $2,367,000. The parent company would receive only warants to buy new common stock of its subsidiary. Other creditor plans are of similar nature, giving the parent company little equity.

Consideration also is being given to merging the operating company with the Denver and Rio Grande, also in bankruptcy reorganization.

The Western Pacific has earned nothing on its common stock since 1926. Loss of the operating company was $2,421,000 in 1936, compared with $1,793,000 in 1935, $1,599,000 in 1934, and $2,088,000 in 1933. Consolidated loss of the parent company and all subsidiaries was $3,269,000 in 1936, compared with $2,582,000 in 1935, $2,325,000 in 1934, and $2,833,000 in 1933.

Stock of the parent company, both common and preferred, is highly speculative.
